

Enjoy flavor of grapes

The rich flavor and color of Ontario blue grapes have not only made these grapes favorites of processors of wines, juice and preserves, but also have made them a very special treat to enjoy at home. They are great for eating out of hand and for making juice, jam, jelly and baked goods.

Look for Ontario blue grapes during September and until about the first week of October.

They are easy to freeze and can be used in place of fresh blue grapes in recipes. So when you come home with baskets or bushels of blue grapes, you don't have to start making your favorite grape jams, pies and juice right away. Instead, you can freeze large quantities of blue grapes in a hurry, then draw on this supply as you want to make jams or desserts later in the year.

Blue grapes can be conveniently placed in the freezer in a matter of minutes. Just wash them carefully, drain well, stem, pack in measured amounts for recipes in freezer containers, label and freeze. Blue grapes hold their shape reasonably well when defrosted and keep their intense color and flavor.

Enjoy the rich flavor of Ontario blue grapes now, while the season is in full swing. Freeze some too, and enjoy good-tasting, good-looking grape dishes in the middle of winter. What a treat!

Report cites Erin dump

Ontario's Ministry of the Environment found Erin village's dump fails to meet ministry standards during a recent inspection. Erin reeve Larry MacKenzie is upset.

He said he was extremely perturbed about the ministry's report, because he said in his opinion the dump is operated satisfactorily. The report states the Erin dump does not measure up to three ministry standards and also that "waste material was being deposited near the edge of the trench and was left uncovered."

Reeve MacKenzie said garbage is put in the pit and covered weekly.

The ministry's Wayne Merritt, of Cambridge office, said if the village does not comply to conditions the case will be forwarded to the headoffice at Stoney Creek. Merritt is also arranging a meeting with village officials to discuss how the site will be prepared for its 1980 closing.
