Fashion show at fair accent on femininity

"Don't let femininity die!" Phyllis Jameson urged her audience at the fall fair fashion show Sunday afternoon.

And her attractive models joined her in showing just what she meant.

Mrs. Jameson, owner of Gayna Fashions on Main St., was commentator for the delightful showing. She had designed many of the gowns herself and won awards for them.

Elizabeth Cook, regional manager of Sarah Coventry Jewellery, gave an intermission presentation, using as her model lovely Frances Powers, who was Miss Canada in 1955. Mrs. Powers and Mrs. Cook both wore Mrs. Jameson's original designs.

Models were Maggie Hall, Cheryl Stewart, Cathy Slaney, Heather Ferguson, Sharon Lawrence, Margaret Anderson, Joanne McLean

and Valerie Graham. Miss Acton Fair Victoria Lenizky and runners-up Kim Ottaway and Dorri Rossiani also took part.

They showed cocktail gowns, evening wear, coats and sports wear, finishing with a beautiful wedding tableau. Cathy Wallis modelled her own wedding gown and Shawn Van Merkestein, her fiance, played the real-life groom.

Y's Menettes begin with barbecue

The Acton Y's Menettes held their first monthly meeting of the season on Monday, September 11 with a barbecue at Sally and Ed Leatherlands. The husbands were invited to enjoy a barbecue supper with their wives.

Members discussed the first project of the season, that of catering at a wedding on September 9 and all agreed it had been a challenging new venture and certainly was a success.

Everyone viewed the display for the Fall Fair and some finishing touches were added. Since the meeting they have been delighted to win first prize in the displays at the fair and have another prestigious red ribbon to add to the collection.

It was reported that the tables they purchased are now in the Y. They will be putting them to good use in the book and craft sale upcoming project, making plans for advertising and also a get together one night to work on crafts.

Everyone spent a nice evening catching up on the summer news and were happy to have the weatherman co-operate with the weather for the last barbecue of the season.

Daughters in for fair

Mrs. Mary Osbourne had all three daughters together for the Fall Fair weekend. Mrs. Maurice St. Denis (Jeanne) was here from Sudbury with her two daughters Marcia and Sandra and Mrs. Hal Bellamy (Marie) from Stayner with her daughter, Mary Ellen. They also visited with their sister Mrs. Carl Rostquist (Yvonne) and family.

New season

Cancer Society is full of enthusiasm

The Acton Branch of the Canadian Cancer Society held their first fall meeting at the beautiful new home of Sue and Dave Sale, at R.R. 3, Acton. After an extended tour of this "dream home," they had the business meeting during which a lovely fire glowing in the living room fireplace, capably tended by Dave Sale.

Service to Patients Chairperson Susan Kuechler reported seven trips to Toronto and one to Hamilton for patients during July and August.

Cathy McGillivray reported on the successful car-top carrier which her husband had made for the Fall Fair and he is to be commended for his fine carpentry. "Celly" was Lori Epp and she is to be heartily thanked for her vivacious portrayal of Celly during the parade and was warmly received by everyone.

The lovely afghan blanket was won by Shirley McKeown at the Fall Fair and heartfelt thanks were expressed to the people of Acton and surrounding area who supported this lucky draw as the monies received from it will go directly to the ongoing work of the Cancer Society. Campaign Chairman Arlie

White is very pleased with results of the campaign and is now looking forward to the annual campaign convention in Toronto coming up soon. Members are making plans for the Daffodil Dance on March 31 at the band hall and have contracted with the Melodians, a great sounding group of five musicians to play for this occasion.

The annual dinner meeting of the Canadian Cancer Society is to be held on October 27 at the Bramalea Civic Centre and the guest speaker is to be The Hon. Bette Stephenson, Minister of Education, and a large number of members are planning to attend this interesting evening.

Cathy McGillivray is also looking forward to the Education Conference to be held in Toronto at the Prince Hotel again this year and will bring back some interesting ideas to further increase the public's awareness of cancer education and prevention.

After the meeting adjourned all enjoyed a delicious dessert and everyone seemed full of enthusiasm for the coming year's activities.

Entertainment at meeting

Golden Age Club regular meeting was held on Sept. 20 in the form of a pot luck supper at 5.30, after which the president, Bert Davidson called a short meeting. All joined in singing O Canada followed by the theme song. Secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved. Mr. Davidson explained about the zone rally which will be held at Acton Legion on Nov. 7.

Miss Karin Frohman gave a talk on the New Horizons program. Bert Davidson introduced The Jolly Millers who entertained with toe-tapping music, some polkas and a couple of square dances, so a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.
