

Local students win honors at Erin High

by Winifred Smith
Mr. and Mrs. Jesse McEnery have returned home after a pleasant holiday in the States. As part of their 40th wedding anniversary, they were invited to be special guests of Mrs. McEnery's two brothers, Rev. Ross Dampier of Atlanta, Georgia, and Rev. Joseph Dampier, of Johnson City, Tennessee. The brothers, together with their wives and families entertained them royally. They travelled many miles, and saw many historic places during the week they were there. The couple travelled by air both ways.

We were sorry to hear of the accident which happened to Leanne Wedgewood, of the Town Line. She had the misfortune to fall off a horse she was riding recently. Leanne is a patient in Peel Memorial Hospital. We hope she has a complete recovery and will be able to return home as good as new real soon.

Many parents, relatives and friends from this area were seen at the Erin District High School graduation exercises on Friday night. Those receiving diplomas from this community were Lydia and Jacqueline Koperdraad, Barry and Danny Wright, Steven Lozinski and Sharon Burt.

Steven Lozinski was the winner of the Student Council award also the Sandra Johnston award. Judy Lozinski won the Erin Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion Award. Judy also was among those receiving the Isabel Waterman Scholarships.

Sharon Burt and Steven Lozinski were two of the four named and received the E. D. H. School Memorial Bursaries. Sharon Burt was declared the winner of the Norman Finnie Memorial Trophy.

Congratulations to all these fine young students.

The bazaar, bake sale, and tea sponsored by the UCW was a great success on Saturday afternoon. The organization appreciated the help given.

Rev. Stiles' sermon on Sunday was on Stewardship.

Speaking of Sunday School, Anne Gilpin's name was omitted from the list of teachers by mistake. Sorry, her help is certainly appreciated.

300 tickets sold for beef dinner

by Doris Fines
The beef supper Saturday night at Knox Church lived up to its reputation and was its usual scrumptious repast. The beef cooked to juicy perfection and carved by Alex Morrison was surrounded by tender vegetables and a tempting display of pies baked by the ladies. Over 300 tickets were sold.

The church was closed here Sunday morning so the congregation could attend anniversary services at Burns Presbyterian in Erin. A goodly number took advantage of the opportunity and enjoyed tea and a social gathering in the basement after the service.

Jr. and Mrs. James Pettit and sons Robbie and Ricky of Ottawa, visited a couple of days with Mrs. Pettit's parents Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Howes.

The pupils and staff of Ospringle school are grateful for the support given to the chocolate bar drive. It will end next week.

Grades 4 to 7 are following through class activities at the Science Centre on Oct. 24. This part of the school program leads to much fulfillment of inquisitive young minds. A great deal can be learned by young and old from the Science Centre.

Mrs. Ralph Sinclair was hostess for the Thanksgiving meeting of the Ospringle Ladies Aid. Before it began, her daughter Janet told the story of the first Thanksgiving. Mrs. Sinclair opened the meeting with a reading - A Thankful Heart.

A series of articles on "Thanksgiving Day, a real specialty", "Harvest Memories", and "An Irish Blessing", were read by Mrs. Sinclair.

The roll call was answered by ten ladies with a Thanksgiving verse or prayer.

A Thanksgiving word contest was won by Mrs. Mabel Dean.

SELLING CANDY at the Ballinafad U.C.W. bazaar Saturday are junior choir members Peter Volmar, Susan O'Connor and Hellen Schwarz.

Churchill

Church groups hold meetings

by J. Turner
The October meeting of the Churchill C.C. Women Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Clifford Storey was well attended.

Mrs. Olga Thompson led in devotions on the topic of thankfulness. Treasurer Mrs. Eleanor Thompson read the financial statement, reminding us also that she still has a few more commemorative plates and mugs if anyone wants them for Christmas gifts.

Plans were made for the annual Hallowe'en party Saturday evening in the church basement. The ladies are providing costume prizes and lunch, while the young people are to plan the games and other activities.

Mrs. Joanne Turner reported on an inter-church meeting in Acton to plan for "Ten Days" in February that will focus attention on the needs of the starving needy of the Third World countries. The fall paper drive is November 13, 14 and 15. Newspapers only (no magazines or cardboard, this time) are to be brought, tied securely in easy bundles to the storage shed at Acton Precast Limited.

For program Eleanor Thompson dug into her file of seasonal topics and produced four poems and a contest which saluted the splendor of autumn color and the approaching Hallowe'en festivities. A delicious lunch was served by hostess Mrs. Storey.

Churchill Community Church held their regular congregational meeting Thursday evening at the church, with the Rev. James L. McFadden chairing the meeting. After the usual business reports were dispensed with, a lively discussion ensued. Satisfaction was expressed over the recent increase in Sunday school enrolment, since Mrs. Shirley Swackhamer and Mrs. Brenda Hillier joined the teaching staff.

There was general concern that the pastoral needs of the congregation are not being fully met, and that the sick and elderly are not receiving their share of attention. Plans were made to seek a solution to this situation and a general meeting of members and adherents is being called for Monday, October 30 at 8:00 p.m.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Tim MacArthur who were married at Churchill last Friday. The Rev. A. W. Fosbury officiated.

Friends will be interested to learn that the Rev. Bob Hyde, wife Carol (nee Swackhamer) and sons Jeremy, and Andrew, of Hagersville, will be moving back into the area.
