

Grandma goes hunting shoots bear, moose

Some children brag about their grandma's cookies, but few can brag about their grandma's prowess at bear hunting, like little Brian Hawes of Limehouse.

Beatrice (Beat) Hawes is a 60 year old grandmother who is loaded for bear, and has shot at least five in the last 20 years.

She has shot her share of deer and moose as well, when she and her husband Bill, 66, go on canoeing trips. In their golden years of retirement this couple doesn't go canoeing on placid small lakes as an afternoon outing. They go on complete camping, portaging and canoeing trips in the wild north country.

On their last trip they started at Cochrane and canoed to Moosonee, carrying supplies and tent with them, as they portaged over the wild country.

Not content with roughing it, the couple then skin the animals. Mrs. Hawes scrapes the hide and makes shortening from the fat, and freezes the meat. Bill helps her stretch the hides, which they sell at the North Bay fur action. If it happens to be deer, they tan the hide themselves and keep it for their own use.

What's a nice woman like this doing shooting animals and rapids at the same time?

The Hawes lived in Georgetown, as many of the family still do, then farmed in Erin before moving up north. Bill Hawes kept an eye out for forest fires from the tall towers, frequently seen in movies, during the summer. In the wintertime he trapped around Matachewan, where they lived.

When airplanes started patrolling for forest fires, the towers were closed and Bill's job with them. A year ago he retired and now he and his wife "Beat" live with their son and his family on the Sixth Line, north of Highway 7. Some of the activity has rubbed off on son Ed, who builds canoes for a hobby.

But the lure of the north is still there and the outdoor life is in their blood, so off they go. Age is no deterrent to the active couple, who obtain maps of Northern Ontario Canoe Trips from the government and take off.

It's hard to beat "Beat" and Bill Hawes who in their 60s have more initiative and energy than many 20 year olds.

LOOK WHAT GRANDMA SHOT! says four year old Brian Hawes as he shows off the prize his grandma Mrs. Beatrice (Beat) Hawes, Limehouse, brought home from a hunting trip. He has a hard time convincing friends his grandma really shoots bears, moose, and deer.

Silver Wood

Garage sale is success

by Mrs. L. Giffen
Mrs. G. Ironside of Acton was hostess for the evening meeting of Silver Wood Women's Institute on November 10 for Citizenship and World Affairs.

Mrs. B. Lindsay, our president opened the meeting reading a poem on This Land and followed by the Institute Ode and Mary Stewart Collect. A two minute silence was observed.

The minutes of the October meeting were read and approved as was the treasurer's report.

Volts bolt

Halton Regional Police have a report from a Greenore Crescent man concerning the theft of a 12-volt battery from his pick-up truck while the vehicle was parked at the Dominion Hotel last week.

Thirteen members and one visitor answered the roll call—name a prominent person in the news.

Mrs. I. Carmichael gave a very favourable report on the garage sale held recently. We hope to make this a yearly event.

Mrs. Corbett gave the motto: A woman who wants things done finds a way; one who doesn't, finds an excuse.

Mrs. G. Ironside introduced Mrs. Grace Robertson of Acton Flower Shop. She demonstrated some very appropriate Christmas arrangements we could make for our centre table. Mrs. Ironside thanked Mrs. Robertson and presented her with a token of appreciation.

A social time was had with a cup of tea and lunch. Mrs. Beene gave the courtesy.

Congratulations to Susan (Weideman) and Jim Bonnell on the birth of Amanda Susan, a little sister for Daniel and Jennifer.

John Henry is home from Milton hospital. Margaret visited with John's sister, Nessie McCallum.

Rev. R. Finley's sermon topic was "Love's way to God." Divisions are caused when one group says, "Our way is the only way to love God." When an expert in the law asked Jesus what the greatest commandment was, he approved of Jesus's answer. You can only come to God your way. The way of the heart is the one Jesus mentioned first. People are moved by many things, sacred music, worship. No

December busy month for Community Club

by Wilda MacDougall
Mr. and Mrs. Eric Lockett and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Blacklock recently spent a weekend in the border towns of New York State.

Mrs. Anna Wilson presided at the meeting of the Friendly Seniors on Wednesday with 16 members present. Plans were made for their Christmas dinner on December 6th. Euchre and a social hour were enjoyed.

The monthly meeting of the Community Club was held on Tuesday night. During the business, it was decided to install oil tanks inside the hall. Betty Snow and Jean Rinehart are responsible for compiling the list of caretakers for the year. Regarding S.P.I.N., please keep in mind that on the first Saturday of the month you leave your tins, glass, etc. and papers are not to be left at the hall until the second Saturday of the month.

The annual meeting will be held on Monday evening, December 4. The nominating committee are Bob Love, Jean Turowski and Anna Markell. If anyone is interested in being a part of the executive, please contact one of these people.

The Christmas dance is on December 9 and there will be a New Year's Eve party at $25 a couple which includes the works. Tickets available from Lorna Tomlinson at 856-9633.

Please keep in mind the Community Bazaar, this Saturday, November 25, from 1-4 o'clock.

This community was deeply saddened last week by the death of Mrs. W. G. (Kay) Stevenson, and her presence will be greatly missed. Kay was a very active member of the Community Club for many years; an ardent baseball fan; member of the Eden Mills Presbyterian Church; the Presbyterian Women's Association; the Friendly Seniors; member of the Major Robert Mutrie Chapter of the I.O.D.E.; she was past Deputy District Commissioner for the Girl Guides; was the present Badge Secretary and tested many of the Brownies and Guides for their badges; and a member of the Guelph Country Club where she enjoyed fellowship and curling. Sincere condolences are extended to Kay's ten children and their families, her mother and aunt, Mrs. James and Mrs. William Gilbertson and her sister Mrs. Marie Davis of Guelph. Kay was bereaved of her husband, Dr. Gordon Stevenson, 20 years ago and her brother Bob, last year.

Limehouse

Leaders, 21 Beavers invested last week

by Mrs. Hannah
Limehouse Beavers had an important night last week when all 21 of them were invested. The families of the boys were present to see the boys repeat their promise and receive their blue and green scarves. The four leaders were invested at the same time by the District Commissioner Murray Harrison and the Assistant District Commissioner for Beavers, Andrea Sharples.

Mike Hannah, who is the Keco for the colony received his special Keco scarf. Keco is a cub who represents a link between the Beavers and Cubs. Everyone enjoyed refreshments after all the ceremonies.

The Cubs attended the Georgetown Remembrance Day parade. It was a cold day but everyone survived. The hot chocolate at the Legion helped immensely.

New leaders Lynn Ruggle and Robert Foster were invested last week by Assistant District Commissioner Steve Thompson. Their families were also present for the ceremony. Greg Lane has received his red star and swimmer's badge while Stephen Ruggle earned his artist badge and Chris Burrell his team player badge.

The Scouts attended the Remembrance Day parade as well.

Group Committee held their November meeting with 20 people present. They announced the next newspaper pickup will be Nov. 25 and there will be no pickup in December. Final plans were made for the multisite in December. Sheila Foster is to attend the Regional Conference in Brampton.

Cub leader Elaine Hannah attended a training course at Blue Springs Scout Reserve last weekend.
