

Kiddies Klub for all ages

Marion Ingliss has 20 years' experience babysitting children of all ages, which fully qualifies her for her job at the Y's Kiddies Klub every Friday.

The Y program gets about six children a week, according to Mrs. Ingliss, a lot of whom are regular Klub goers. Average age is two to six years old. The day gives mothers a chance to drop their youngsters off with an experienced babysitter and enjoy the day shopping, housecleaning, or just allows a few hours at home relaxing. Any age is welcome, even those in diapers. Children will have a chance to meet others their own age, do exercises, color, string beads, use play dough, play with numerous toys, etc.

After a lunch, provided by the mothers (the Y supplies a drink), the tots go out for a walk. In the summer, Mrs. Ingliss said, they went to the park and enjoyed the swings and watching the ducks.

MAKING CHRISTMAS PRESENTS for Mom is just one of the many things to do at the Y's Kiddies Klub every Friday. Clockwise, Margaret Steeves, Tracy Griffin, Angela Yaworsky, Greg Johnson, Debbie Burns and Matthew Robinson.

Make sure your name, age, grade, school, address and telephone number are attached to your coloring entry.

Coloring contest now underway

Another favorite of Acton and area youngsters has returned this year—the Christmas Coloring Contest. The contest starts as soon as this issue comes out on the streets and closes December 15. It is open to all those kindergarten to grade five students in Acton and area schools, including Speyside, Limehouse, and Rockwood. The first category is open to those in kindergarten to grade three, with the senior category for the older children. As in other years, Santa Claus will be the judge. He has told us he judges on how well the work is done for a child of that particular age.

There are unique prizes this year, and winners names will be announced in the December 20 issue of The Acton Free Press. Entries can be dropped off at this paper's office, 59 Willow St.

Producers tour plant

By Henry J. Stanley
Halton milk producers and their wives held their annual bus tour on Tuesday, Nov. 28. The first stop was at Lucerne Foods in Oakville where Hans Christensen, the Plant Manager, showed us through his modern dairy. Lucerne Foods was formerly the farmer-owned Oakville Dairy. It is now part of the 2,700-store Canada Safeway Chain. The Halton milk producers were most impressed with quality control and cleanliness at this dairy. All the milk and milk products sold are guaranteed for at least four days past the expiry date printed on the carton. This plant has gone to a great expense converting over to the metric system. The next stop was at National Cheese in North Toronto. This huge cheese factory produces many kinds of specialty cheeses using a lot of hand labor. Cheeses are also imported from all over the world and cut up and repackaged or processed for special purposes. Halton visitors even tasted cheese from sheep's milk imported from Italy.
