

Crackdown on for illegal dogs

by Barb Wynneck
Unlicensed pooch residing on your Eramosa property? Expect a visit from Dog Control officer Mary Keane.

Dogs and taxes head the local complaint list, according to one councillor. A door to door dog tag sales canvass will get underway with council's support. Fees are: $5 male and spayed female, $10 female, $15 each additional dog. Funds collected help compensate farmers whose livestock have been killed by dogs. Lost, tagged, pets are returned home free of charge. It costs a $27 initial fee to spring an unlicensed pet from the pound. An additional $3 daily fee is added to the cost. Untagged dogs are kept in the pound three days. After that time, if a home is not found, the animals are put down, according to the dog control officer.

Proposal deemed premature by twp.

Richress Ltd.'s Rockwood subdivision proposal is premature, according to Eramosa Planning Board and council supported their opinion, returning the Ministry of Housing's questionnaire unanswered. The approximately 100 acre property parcel is located behind the Rockwood Academy in the village's extreme southwest corner. A proposed Frederick St. extension would provide the housing area access.

Three Eden Mills Co. Guides recently received the last Canada Cordis awarded in the local Girl Guide Movement. The Canada Cord is the highest achievement level under the present system. Come September the national organization's age groupings and achievement awards will change. Left to right Rena Blaakman, Ann Chesworth (captain), Sara Brown, Remy Heard, (lieutenant) and Iona Chesworth.

Tennis club wants washroom facilities

"We will get it in writing, then you can start." That was the advice Deputy Reeve David Masson told Rockmosa Club delegates president Anna Maria Bell and project manager Roy Curtis at a May 7 council meeting. Delegates sought confirmation of an August 1978 Wintario court lighting grant, before installations get underway. "We have approval in principle," said Masson. He agreed to obtain official notice from Provincial Culture and Recreation representative Pat Duffy. The club has already raised their share of the funds. The 1978 estimated project cost was approximately $11,000. The Tennis Club also requested Community Centre washroom facility use on tournament days. Councillor John McLeod advised the club to present a proposal to the community centre board outlining tournament dates and including a facility cleaning agreement. Other washrooms are planned to service the playing fields in the future, he noted.

Roundup

by Barb Wynneck
Grab your partner for the Old Tyme Dance, this Friday at the Rockwood Town Hall. Tickets $3 at the door. The Sunshine Band will be on stage fiddlin' up a storm.

The Rockwood Lions Fireworks Display gets underway at dusk Sunday, May 20, at Rockmosa Park. As usual, a spectacular sky lighting event is scheduled—with the firemen safely setting the fuses.

Make Rockwood beautiful—remember Clean Up Day, May 26. Curbside pickup for any sized discarded "treasures".

Lloyd Hindley recently celebrated a career anniversary—15 years behind the Eramosa Township clerk's desk.

Tennis gets underway

Tennis enthusiasts registering for the 1979 season had a pleasant surprise at the Rockwood Town Hall Saturday. Coffee, donuts and prizes awaited the racquet sport fans.

Dan and Colette MacDonald, the first to register, won a free court key, complete with gingham bow. Larry Horwood, Candy Armstrong, Jean Lawton, Norin Beattie and June Barnes were awarded prizes certain to improve their games—tennis socks, head band, tin of balls and racquet covers among the assortment. Organizers report 130 members on the books so far. Last year membership reached 300.

Residents will have another opportunity to register this Saturday 11 a.m. - 2 p.m. at the courts. Fees $15 singles, $35 family. In case of rain, call Linda Duncan, 856-4559.

Court lines have been repainted, the nets are up, one tournament has been set, court lights should be installed shortly and an energetic executive is at the helm. It all promises to be an exciting season.

WHIMBREL
This large mottled brown and gray shorebird nests in the northern hemisphere in open tundra near fresh water ponds. It measures nearly 18 inches in length, with a four inch down-curved bill, distinguishing it as a curlew.

TENDERS

The Trustees of the Village of Rockwood invite bids for the installation of water and sewer services at the Village office, 118 Guelph Street.

Bids should be in by May 25, 1979.

Lowest or any bid not necessarily accepted.
