Tory upset in Guelph

Albert Fish, Progressive Conservative candidate for Guelph riding, has upset incumbent Liberal Frank Maine in yesterday's federal election.

Fish, a Guelph real estate agent, led the polls the entire evening ahead of Maine by an average of 30 votes per poll. By 9 p.m., CTV news had predicted him the winner. In the end, Fish took the riding with 18,098 votes, well ahead of Maine's 16,005 tally. New Democratic Party candidate Jim Finamore trailed with a respectable 8,397.

Shortly after 10 p.m., a defeated Maine visited the Progressive Conservative headquarters on Cork St., in Guelph, and told the new Member of Parliament he hopes he (Fish) works as hard for the riding as Maine did. Fish thanked the former member for a "clean campaign." The defeat ended a seven year federal political career.

In the village of Rockwood, Fish chalked up 80 votes, with Maine taking 52. Finamore received 22 votes. Fish once again led the poll in Eden Mills with 69 votes. Maine trailed with 53 while Finamore took 23. In Everton, Maine trailed by 27 as he received 122 votes, compared with Fish's 149. Finamore took 59.

Eramosa township followed the Fish trend with all polls out voting the incumbent. In poll 203, Fish took 116 votes, with 99 going to Maine and 33 to Finamore. Poll 204 saw Fish winning 157 votes, Maine taking 81 and 32 going towards the NDP.

Fish took 149 votes in poll 205 with Maine gathering 59 and Finamore 22. Poll 207 gave Fish 123 votes, Maine 69 and Finamore 41. In poll 209, Fish took 138 votes, Maine 78 and Finamore 51. Poll 210 saw Fish sweeping in 127 votes, with Maine trailing with 78 and Finamore 50.

By 8.15 the tension in the air of the Cork St., Guelph, campaign headquarters turned to excitement as more and more results came in. Cheers of victory rose up everytime another number was placed on the board. The crowd watched with interest as CTV news followed the Wellington-Dufferin-Peel-Simcoe riding, which P.C. incumbent Perrin Beatty took by a landslide. His victory only added to the jubilation in the crowded room. In the other parties, Independent Joe

Baraboes took 180 votes, Brian Seymoure, Libertarian 121, Alan Pickersgill, Communist 38 and Robert Cruise Marxist-Leninist 36.

Contests run for children

Poster and essay contests are being organized by the Back to Acton Days organizers which will see youngsters from all grades up to high school taking part.

Children in grades kindergarten to grade 5 will be invited to take part in the poster contest, and grades 6, 7, and 8, taking part in the essay contest. There will be many prizes awarded according to age, says organizer Janet Fleming. All work will be done through the schools with teachers selecting the best of the work. From the best of the class, judges will select the eventual winners.

Beatty wins by landslide

Perrin Beatty has had his Progressive Conservative stronghold in Wellington-Dufferin-Simcoe, reaffirmed as he swept the riding by 14,539 votes in yesterday's federal election.

Beatty walked all over his Liberal opponent Harry Greene with 25,861 votes and New Democratic Party candidate Jeff Koehlin by 20,910. Final tallies put Greene at 11,322 and Koehlin at 4,951.

Despite his young age, about 28, Beatty is a veteran on Parliament Hill having just won his third election.
