

Shoe sale to help centre

Most unusual bargains in shoes will be available at the Y on June 14 and 15, when a special sale is being held to raise money for the Community Services Centre.

Swetman's Shoe Store has donated about 300 pairs of ends of lines and broken sizes, to benefit a cause that is close to the owners' hearts. Alma Swetman, a former public health nurse, was one of the charter members of the board of the Centre when it was established in town. Now that the Centre is facing financial difficulties this year, she proposed a special clear-out that would raise money for the Centre.

Co-ordinator Terry Grubbe happily accepted the offer and is getting the two-day event all arranged. Volunteers will staff the temporary shoe shop in the Y gym and many people are expected. To benefit those who work all day, the sale times are extended into the evening. On Thursday, June 14, the hours are being set at three p.m. until nine p.m. and on Friday, June 15, from 10 a.m. until eight p.m.

Lonnie Harkins, of Community Services Centre and Marie Lawson of Swetman Shoes sit amidst footwear donated by Swetman's to the Centre for a shoe sale to help raise funds for the Centre. The sale is slated for June 14 and 15.

Mrs. Swetman says the shoes range in size from women's 5s to 11s, and men's sizes from 7 to 12. "There are some excellent bargains, she says. Of course not all styles are in all sizes. There are some Hush Puppies, Kaufman and Naturalizers included in the large selections.

Drug Mart not closing

The Glenlea Drug Mart is not going out of business when the Glenlea Medical Centre closes its doors June 22.

Pharmacist Gary Barton told the Acton Free Press since the story about the closing of the Medical Centre appeared in last week's paper, numerous people have approached his staff and himself as to why they were closing down. No where does the story suggest the drug mart will also be closing.

Doctors Joseph Vukovich, Brandon Smith and Hans Grundmann are leaving for various places, for different reasons and in spite of attempts to bring in new doctors, the centre will be closing. This closure however, affects only the medical portion of the building. The dentist's office will run as usual, as will all the stores on the ground level.

Tires, oil cases stolen from station

Halton Regional Police are continuing the investigation of theft from Shortfills Chalet service station on Queen St. earlier this week.

Thieves snaffled two cases of motor oil and six tires. Total value of the loot is about $1,000, according to police.

The lock on a Church St. apartment was slipped by a thief in order to get inside. Once the door was opened, a power mower, grease gun, cartridge and flex hose were taken.

A Queen St. man scared off three others who were stealing a cooler from the man's car. The blue plastic cooler measures 20-by-20 inches.

Police are also checking descriptions of at least two male suspects in connection with an attempted break-in of the Acton Pharmacy. They removed the door lock by using a pair of vice grips and were about to enter the pharmacy when a neighbor spotted them. The men are described as between 25 and 30 years of age. They both wore suits and short hair. It's possible they also had moustaches.

A Georgetown man wearing studded wrist bands was stopped by Halton Regional Police on Queen St. The bands appeared to the officer to fall within the definition of an offensive weapon, so he therefore seized them and stored them at the Georgetown office pending further investigation.

A Guelph resident reported to police a break-in at his Nassagaweya property. Several dishes were broken and a corn popper and coffee percolator were stolen. Entry was also made into a barn.

Charges are pending against a 41-year-old Esquesing man found to have some obscene material. The man was found with three pornographic films and a film advertising booklet. An electric red colored Canadian Tire lawnmower was stolen from the lawn of a Poplar Ave. home. Police list the value of the machine at $50.
