500 kV hydro corridor to carry power starting Saturday

The controversial $38 million 500-kilovolt hydro transmission line between the Bruce nuclear complex and the 500-kV network link near Milton is to go into service starting Saturday, June 21, approximately eight years after it was first disclosed to the public.

Ontario Hydro will activate one circuit of the new Bruce to Milton transmission line that day, and the other on Monday, June 23.

"At 500 kilovolts, the maximum in the system, this new line will enable Hydro to transmit low-cost bulk power from the Bruce plant more reliably and more economically," said Jim Redmond, manager of transmission utilization.

Part of the line, between Bruce and Colbeck transformer station north of Orangeville, was activated two years ago with a connection to the 230-kV system there, but the lower voltage kept substantial amounts of power "jockeyed in" at Bruce sometimes. Workmen strung lines on the tower through Halton Hills during the past month.

The complete line is 175 kilometres long and consists of 737 towers 50 metres high on a 76-metre-wide right-of-way. Its estimated final cost is $38 million.

Clean-up and restoration of the right-of-way, including fence repair and removal of access roads and culverts, will continue through the summer.

Catholic Women's League

Attend Hamilton Diocesan Convention

Four members, Ruth McMahon, Pat Garton, Mary Margaret Dickinson and Pat Jackson, of St. Joseph's Catholic Women's League, attended the 60th annual convention of the Hamilton Diocesan CWL which was held May 30, 31 and June 1 at the Holiday Inn, Hamilton.

In keeping with the Year of the Family, the theme of the convention was 'Faith and Family'.

It opened Friday evening with Rev. Michael Isabelle, Diocesan Director being the main celebrant at a concelebrated mass and crowning of the Blessed Virgin.

Judge G. Copps from Hamilton, the guest speaker of the evening asked us to support Ontario cabinet minister Frank Drea, and the Ontario Film Censor Board, which censored 'The Tin Drum'. She also feels that Parent-Teacher Associations are invaluable aids to those raising families.

Most of Saturday was taken up with reports from conveners of the standing committees, who seek to unite Catholic Women of Canada in a bond of fellowship to further spiritual, cultural and intellectual interests and in the development of social action when and where necessary.

A very informative guest speaker, Lorna Evans from the Nuclear Research Centre, Chalk River, Ontario spoke on the benefits of nuclear energy, which in the near future will supply much of our energy needs. To the surprise of many, the greatest hazard of nuclear energy is mental stress.

Mrs. Lillian O'Connor, Ontario Provincial President, asked members to write letters of protest to Dennis Timbrell, Minister of Health from Ontario regarding the Health Care Services Consent Act: Being the mother of 14 and grandmother of 11 she is very involved in Church, school and home. She quoted Pius II who in 1922 said, "devote yourselves to the family; it is the centre of all that is good. It will be the restoration of the world."

Most Rev. J. Macdonald, Auxiliary Bishop of Hamilton, celebrated a beautiful mass on Sunday afternoon with 10 priests at Cathedral of Christ the King. This was followed

RICHMOND COLLEGE

The Richmond College advertisement of May 7 concerning its new program utilizing the Extension/Correspondence course offerings at the University of Waterloo did not intend to imply any institutional or programmatic relationship between the University and the College. It meant only to advise prospective students that Richmond College will offer a program which will encourage its students to take, and facilitate them taking sufficient and appropriate U/W Extension Courses, so that, given current transfer credit practices for Richmond College students at several Universities including U/W, the student can reasonably expect to be eligible to apply for a U/W degree upon completion of such a combined program. The June meeting of the Daughters of Knox was a trip to St. Jacob's. Eighteen were in attendance and gathered at "The Meeting Place".

We were shown a film on Mennonite life, with commentary by one of the assistant ministers of the Mennonite church. We all learned many pertinent facts concerning the Mennonite way of life.

Following the film, the

Neighbors thanked by Blue Springs Scout Reserve

A "Thank you neighbor" supper was held at Blue Springs Scout Reserve on Monday, June 9. This event was hosted by Boy Scouts of Canada, Provincial Council for Ontario, in appreciation of the support and co-operation they have received from neighbours over the 43 years the reserve has been in operation. The meeting, chaired by Mr. R.A. Norman, President of the Ontario Provincial Council was attended by 14 neighbors, Halton Region Police and officials of the Boy Scouts of Canada.

The meeting provided an opportunity to discuss vandalism and trespassing. Over the past three years the scout property has experienced a major increase in acts of vandalism involving damage to buildings, equipment and trees, as well as a substantial increase in trespassing.

To combat these problems, scout officials are planning the installation of new security systems, improved fencing and additional "posting" of the property. Further suggestions were given by those attending the meeting, including the use of the neighborhood watch program.

The Blue Springs Scout Reserve is the major training centre for scout leaders from all parts of Ontario. Over 2,500 leaders attended courses or conferences at the centre in 1979.

Blue Springs Scout Reserve is located 3 miles west of Acton on the 6th Line of the former township of Nassagaweya.
