BLIND RIVER

Sprucing up the parking meters was a project of Blind River students last year.

Blind River, like many other Northern towns, offers the utmost in modern convenience, coupled with all the outdoor activities imaginable. Thus, a vacation in the Blind River area can be as rugged or as comfortable as the visitor desires.

Blind River is located on Lake Huron and Blind River, about 16 miles east of Iron Bridge on Highway 17. The lakes and streams in this area contain some of North America's finest speckled trout and lake trout fishing, yet the finest in accommodations and dining are nearby. Campsites, cottages, boats — everything for the vacationer is at hand, and the air is fresh and clean.

There are many historical sights to see in this area, not the least being the town's Timber Village Museum.

The welcome mat is always out for the visitor to Blind River — so do something different this year — get to know the North, beginning with the Blind River region!
