Huff'n-puffers raise Palmer funds

The Halton Hills Huff'n-Puffers, the local Oldtimers hockey team, opened their 1980-81 hockey season at Bramalea's Victoria Park Arena last week as they took on The Flying Fathers in a benefit game with the proceeds going to "The Lynn Palmer Fund."

The Huff'n-Puffers aided by former NHLers Andy Bathgate, Pierre Pilote and Eddie "The Entertainer" Shack were hard pressed by the "Fathers" antics in playing hockey at its funniest. The "Fathers" scored a 6-4 win.

The game, sponsored by the Lions Club of Bramalea and the local hockey club, raised in excess of $2,200 according to Huff'n-puffer John Kavanagh which will go to the "Lynn Palmer Fund".

The total attendance was not figured but ticket sales for the contest were as high as 600.
The Huff'n-puffers had a special thanks for Shack, Bathgate and Pilote for their efforts.

Jim Wilson from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association puts boys in Saturday's goalie clinic through their paces. There were 23 boys, all registered with the Acton Minor Hockey Association, at the four-hour clinic.

Flying Father Tim Shea says a blessing over Eddie Shack while Lorne Smith and Pierre Pilote look on during the Halton Hills Huff'n-puffers benefit game for the "Lynn Palmer Fund" in Bramalea last Wednesday. The game, which featured Shack, Pilote and Andy Bathgate playing for the Halton Hills Oldtimers, raised over $2,200 for the cause.
