

Louise Papillon and Sandra Marzo set up a clothing display at Saturday's Catholic Women's League bazaar.

This week thru the lens

Elizabeth Bradburn gives a demonstration with the dummy at Saturday morning's heart saver course at the Murray Memorial YMCA.

The quilting work of Judi Shannon captured the attention of Adrienne MacKay at Saturday's Acton Arts and Crafts show and sale.

Lisa Lidbury admires some of the handmade stuffed toys made by Florence Wilkins. Mrs. Wilkins' work was part of the Acton Arts and Crafts show at St. Alban's hall.

Todd DeForest, left, congratulated by cub leader Ron Riches after his investment into the 1st Acton A pack of Cubs. The rest of the pack looks on at the special ceremony.

Elisabeth Gathof with some of her woodburning work. She was one of the participants at Saturday's Acton Arts and Crafts show.

Del Howse was quite proud of the porcelain, lace draped figurines she had on display at the Acton Arts and Crafts show Saturday.

Laura Dittrich with some of the dried flowers, paintings and sketches she displayed and sold at Saturday's Acton Arts and Crafts show and sale.

Jean Denny displayed some lovely hand weaving at the Acton Arts and Crafts show.

Santa arrives November 29

Santa Claus is coming to town November 29.

The fifth Santa Claus parade under the direction of the Acton Y's Men will start at 1:30 p.m. at McKenzie-Smith school, travel down Mill Street to Park Avenue, up Park and then down Knox where it will end at Main Street.

Student goes far

Acton students go far and wide to continue their education. One who has travelled a fair distance is Adriana Lynn Margetts, who is one of 350 freshmen who arrived for the recent 146th opening of Wheaton College, Norton, Massachusetts. A graduate of Acton High School, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Margetts.

three bands in the parade, two confirmed, the Acton Citizens' Band and the Guelph Salvation Army Band.

Last year there were 12 floats in the parade and organizer Jim Rivett is hoping for at least 20 this year. One year the parade had a high of 27 floats.

The theme of this year's parade will be Christmas Fairy Tales. Float entry forms will be published next month in this newspaper, can be picked up now at the Y or call Rivett at 853-3618 evenings.

Santa will once again be the highlight of the parade and then will take children's Christmas wish lists at the Y following the parade. It will be a good time for parents to take their child's picture on Santa's knee too.

D. Katz promoted

Former Acton High School principal Dave Katz has been promoted to the post of area superintendent for Halton's Board of Education.

The promotion comes into effect in February. Katz was principal in town for five years starting in 1970.
