Moms suffer defeat

A second period lapse by the minor atom Moms led to a 4-1 defeat at the sticks of Hespeler Friday.
 Acton and Hespeler were tied one apiece going into the second period, after Sean Sears scored for the Moms with a few minutes left. Rene Vankesteren earned the aid. But Hespeler's Greg Job potted two goals in the second frame, followed by another marker in the third, to take the match 4-1. The game was called because of curfew with more than two minutes remaining in the third period. Despite the loss, Acton goalie Chris Enright turned in a strong performance in his second start this season.

Bants drop a pair

The Rotary Club minor bantams dropped a pair of matches last week, the first one to Hespeler 7-3 on Wednesday night and the second to Elmira 21-5, Saturday. Both games were at the Community Centre.
 Rotary Club's Tony Van Dam opened the scoring one minute into the first period, but Hespeler tied it up not long afterwards. They went ahead with two more goals in the second frame before Greg James struck with an Acton tally.
 A goal by Robbie Porter put Acton and Hespeler on an even keel midway through the second frame. But Hespeler jumped ahead again at 5:32 of the third period. They clinched the victory with three more unanswered goals in the final period. Elmira handled the Rotary Club bantams with ease on Saturday, after allowing them the opening goal, a marker by Andrew Ferguson less than a minute after the face-off. Elmira fired four goals in the first, eight markers in the second frame and nine goals in the third. Michael Fronteddu and Terry Danagher potted the other Acton goals. Assists went to Chris Stewart, Heath Norton, David Thomas and Greg James.

 Earlier in the season, Alton-McIsaac had their problems with Elmira who defeated them 9-4 and Guelph, who beat them 11-0.
