

Acton's flour mill has been the heart of the town for nearly 150 years. Now owned by Lloyd Zeigler, the mill makes a wide variety of pastry, bread, whole wheat and stone ground flour.

buckets to more modern air movement systems for getting the flour from one floor to another.
"Air movement dries it out and affects the flavour" he says.
Sifters used are the original ones put in nearly 60 years ago. Grinders just don't wear out so they're still operating.

"Millers Lung" the dread disease often affecting people working lifetimes in dusty mills has never bothered Lloyd Zeigler or his son Ted, now in business with Lloyd.
Neither did it affect Dave Lindsay, 54-year owner of the flour mill. He purchased the old stone building from Beardmore Tannery in 1918 and sold it to Jim Eccles in the early 1970's. Originally an accountant, Lindsay looked upon the mill as an investment although the building he purchased had all its windows out and only contained a motor and chopper for cattle feed.

Within a few years the mill was producing more flour than animal feed and working 24 hours a day increasing production from 25 to 150 barrels a day by the 70's. Now the flour mill turns out twenty-two 40 kilo bags an hour. Zeigler finds it no longer necessary to run double shifts—he produces more than enough for his customers in one day shift.

"There used to be two truck loads of flour go out every day. We used horses at the start," Lindsay remembers.
His customers included Christie Browns and Dad's cookies.
Lindsay is not sure how old the mill is but feels it dates back to the 1830's. References to what appears to be the Acton Mill can be found in "Acton's Early Days" and the 1877 Halton County Atlas. It is thought the present mill is the same one built by Acton's founders, the Adam brothers.

Zions-McGrath wed

The groom's mother was soloist and St. Joseph's Junior Choir sang as Maria Leonore Pacheco McGrath and Peter Thomas Zions were wed on May 2.
The bride is the daughter of Tim and Huguette McGrath, 169 York St. The groom is the son of John and Marie Zions, R.R.2 Acton. Both are employed at the old Hide House, the bride as the head of the western department, the groom as a carpenter.
St. Joseph's Church was the setting for a double ring candlelight ceremony, conducted by Father Leo Speagle, and Fat Salt was the organist.
John and Kevin McGrath, brothers of the bride served at the mass, and another brother James did a special reading. John Zions, the groom's father tape recorded the entire ceremony.
The wedding bands were inherited by the groom from his paternal grandparents.
Escorted down the aisle by her father, Maria wore a full length chiffon gown with high, closed neck and three cameo bodice and double, bishop sleeves. A matching headpiece carried a double, mid-length veil. Her bouquet was of lilac orchids surrounded by stephanotis.
Maid of honor was the bride's best friend Kathy Pinzin, of Guelph. She wore a full length lilac-colored dress with matching sheer cape and hat. Her flowers were white carnations surrounded with mauve tinted dried flowers.
Gowned alike but wearing lilac flowers in their hair instead of hats were bridesmaids Mary Ruggiero, a friend from Guelph, the groom's sisters Linda and Julie Zions, and the bride's sisters Tina, Lisa and Cathy McGrath, all of Acton.
Flower girls were the bride's twin sisters Linda and Elizabeth McGrath. They wore white full length dresses with short sleeves, trimmed in lilac lace. They carried baskets of miniature white carnations and lilac tinted flowers with lilac wreaths in their hair.
John Watson, Acton, a close friend of the groom was best man. Ushers were Acton friends Noel Blake, Stan Petrie, Victor Kurljevick, and Cliff Britton, Mike Zions a cousin from Mount Forest, and the bride's brother Frank Richard McGrath. The groom's brother Stephen Zions was ringbearer.
The bride's father was master of ceremony at the Acton Band Hall. Special toasts were proposed by John Zions, Fred McGrath, Noel Blake, John Watson and Stephen Zions. A band, Bob and Cory, and disc jockey Jim Coles, provided the music at a dance. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Emmerson of Georgetown, the groom's grandparents and Mrs. Catherine McGrath of Spanish, Ontario, the bride's grandmother.

Following a honeymoon in Quebec City, the newlyweds returned to Acton to make their home at the Diplomat Apartments. The couple spent their first night at the Triumph Sheridan in Toronto, a gift from Maria's brother and father.

Prior to her marriage, the bride-elect was guest of honor at three surprise showers held by: the maid of honor Kathy Pinzin and bridesmaid Mary Ruggiero in Guelph; Mrs. Shirley Zions in Everton; and the fourth line gang, given by Stella Wallace and Sisco Kock.
The groom was surprised with a stag given by best man John Watson, at the Royal Hotel in Guelph.
A rehearsal party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Zions, the groom's parents.

Committee make deer hunt decision

If the committee members want to make a deer hunt decision June 24, they will do so according to Halton Regional Planning and Public Works Committee Chairman Bill Johnson.
The committee is holding a special meeting on the deer hunt June 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the Halton Centennial Manor Auditorium.
It was decided to hold the meeting in Milton during the evening so a number of delegations can come and make submissions on why or why not the region should approve a three-day controlled deer hunt, probably in November.

Although one member of the committee, Burlington Mayor Holy Bird wants the discussion to take place following a regularly scheduled meeting of the committee, Mr. Johnson told The Champion he has since polled the other members and has found out they probably will want to make a decision on June 24.

Mr. Johnson said committee members like Oakville's Terry Mannell said it would be best if the delegations could hear the discussion on the deer hunt by councillors and know what went into making a decision.
Mr. Johnson said there are eight delegations he knows of to date.
One of the delegations, he said, apparently feels Mr. Johnson is biased on the need for a hunt and should not be allowed to chair the committee.

The committee had previously passed a recommendation to regional council asking it to inform the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources that it had "no objection" to another deer hunt being held.
Last year a hunt was held from Nov. 3 to 5 in Halton and only 128 deer were shot by hunters. The sponsoring Ministry of Natural Resources expected the take to be closer to 1,000 deer.
Supported by the Halton Federation of Agriculture and the Halton Agricultural Advisory Committee, the Ministry asked for another hunt to trim back the deer herds plaguing farmers with crop damage.

But when the issue came to regional council, a two-woman delegation asked for and was granted time to prepare a submission on why the hunt should not be held.
Mrs. Debbie Klimer, one of the two, said estimates on the deer herds in Halton were based on what she considered faulty information. The result was that council referred the issue back to Mr. Johnson's committee for another discussion prior to any final decision being made.

Mr. Johnson, for his part, has stated several times he feels that if there should be a deer hunt the hunters should congregate at watering holes and sources of food such as apple orchards and bring down the deer there.
Not only would this increase the number of deer taken, he said, but it would take hunters off private property and away from homes.

Foster-Petkoff exchange vows

In a double-ring ceremony at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Elaine Gail Foster and Michael Peter Petkoff were united in marriage, February 28.
The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Colin Foster of Acton and is employed at Acton Travel. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter M. Petkoff of Hamilton. He is a recent graduate of Mohawk College, Hamilton.
Father Leo Speagle, officiated at the double-ring ceremony while Mrs. Pat Salt played the organ and Karen and Alex Pitt sang.

Rowe, Marie Morris and Lorna Sayers-Bell, all friends of the bride.
The bridal attendants wore floor length gowns of blue silky velour and carried muffs with corsages of silk carnations and mini carnations.
Bestman was Mark Petkoff, brother of the groom. Ushers were the bride's brother Robert Foster, Dave Hest, Dennis Zuccolin, Tim Charlton, Vernon Rice, Jean Breton and Mike Chiarelli, all friends of the groom.
Following the ceremony an evening dinner and dance was held for the 180 guests at the Acton Legion. The bride's uncle Ron Foster of Wallace, England, and the groom's uncle Tom Begley of Hamilton acted as Masters of Ceremonies.
Prior to the wedding the bride-to-be was guest at four showers. Showers were hosted by Mrs. June Dustin, a second by Jennifer Rowe and the bridesmaids, another by the groom's aunts and a neighbor shower hosted by Mrs. F. Zeisig and Heidi Ashley. A stag was held for the groom by all the ushers. The couple honeymooned in Quebec City and are now making their home on John Street.

Escorted down the aisle by her father the bride wore an empire waisted gown of white silky satin accented by a French lace bodice and sleeves. She chose a headpiece of white rabbit fur and a two-tiered tulle veil. The bride gown and headpiece were made by the bride's mother. She carried a white rabbit fur muff with a corsage of blue silk freesia and bridal pink roses and a hankiecheriff passed down from her grandmother.
Maid of honor was sister of the bride Jeannette Foster. Bridesmaids were Patricia Foster, sister of the bride, Catherine and Cheryl Petkoff sisters of the groom, Jennifer

Meetings changed

Halton Hills councillors will be taking a bit of a break this summer, combining council meetings and general committee meetings. They regularly meet every Monday night, alternating between council and committee. They also meet every other Tuesday night for Planning Board. For July and August only, these meetings will be combined, so Monday, July 6 will be council; Tuesday July 21 will be council and planning board; Tuesday August 4 council; Monday August 17 council; Tuesday, August 18 Planning Board. The resolution was met with unanimous consent.

Hospice Care meeting

The North Halton Hospice Care Interest group will hold the fourth and final meeting of the season tonight, Wednesday, June 17 at St. John's United Church, Georgetown. The meeting begins at 8 p.m.

Bell hearings continue

Halton Hills Monday night learned the CRTIC public hearing of Bell Canada's 1981 general rate increase application could continue well into July. In a letter from Howard Wetson, general counsel for Consumers' Association of Canada, it was noted the hearings into Bell's proposed hikes started May 28, and a "conservative" estimate of a winding up date is July 3. The CAC's intervention in previous hike proposals has saved consumers millions of dollars, the letter states, and they are currently fighting to keep the next increase to a minimum. Halton Hills previously backed the CAS stand.

Councillors to convention

Mayor Peter Pomeroy, and Councillors Terry Grubbe, Marilyn Serjeantson and Mike Armstrong will be voting delegates to the Association of Ontario Municipalities convention in Toronto in August.
