Leader proud of scouts at CJ

It was an eventful but tiring eleven days for seven Acton scouts and their leader, but the Canadian Jamboree was an experience of a lifetime.

Under the leadership of Rick Gibson, scouts Peter Kuechler, Don McDonald, Jason Sharples, David DeForest, Tim Height, Ted Moyses and Ken McFee left July 2 for the jamboree situated on a site halfway between Calgary and Banff, Alberta.

Rick explains the area is largely unpopulated and organizers, Scouts of Canada, had a lot of work to do to get ready for the 23,000 expected visitors.

Irrigation pipes had to be laid for the various troops to provide water, as well as showers, etc. needed to be installed.

Seventeen bears had to be relocated, and then three were shot in the nearby area while the jamboree was underway. One section of a camp had to be evacuated, because a mother and her cubs wandered into camp. Scouts from Norval were among this group.

Organized camps, and even organized free time assured that each boy had something to do at all times. In their spare time, there were target shoots, golfing, baseball, soccer, archery, leather kits, etc.

Each program was laid out for each troop, and included a scout skills hike, a tour of Banff, a rodeo and Klondike games, Indian village games and a day trip to the Calgary Stampede. While at the Stampede each scout was given an unlimited pass for the rides.

Opening ceremonies saw Scouts Canada president Walter B. Tilden and Lord Baden-Powell, the founder's grandson on hand.

Also present were Peter Trynchy, Ministry of Recreation and Parks for Alberta, Edward Schreyer, Governor General of Canada, and Honorary Chief Scout of Canada.

While most of the 23,000 were Canadians, Rick noted there were representatives from 14 other countries at the jamboree. During the opening ceremonies flags from Sweden, Israel, Britain, USA, and Australia, among many other countries were exchanged. Every province in Canada was represented.

Rick said for the most part, considering the number of people at the site, the jamboree was very well organized. Because of the dangers of bears individual troops were not allowed to keep food near their tents, so for each meal scouts had to stand in long line ups to buy their food to make each meal.

Because of the organization of time, the boys always had something to do, Rick said, until the last day. Their flight did not leave until early morning on July 12, and they had to sit around the entire day of the 10th, when most of the troops were heading home. July 11, they were busy breaking camp, but then headed to the airport in the early evening, and had a six hour wait before heading home.

Rick said the last two days were the longest of the entire trip.

The leader was really impressed with his troop and their behaviour while away. "They are a very responsible bunch of kids," he said.

Rick has been a scout leader for three years and a Beaver leader for two years before that.
