Gladys Keeler at Cedar Valley and my sister Audrey Henderson at Belwood, for the beginning of a week of sight-seeing.

One morning on opening the Gideon's Bible in the motel, the first words my eyes fell upon were "All is well."

Every night it poured rain, but every day it cleared except one. It poured through North Bay and on, so staying overnight at Bracebridge, we drove back to Algonquin park. The trees were at their best.

The oldest church in the Manitoulin district is St. Paul's Anglican Church at Manitoulin. It was built by the Indians in 1845, and is well preserved and still in use.

We toured mountainous roads to scenic look-outs. Back on the mainland, provincial parks made nice rest areas.

Driving up to see the big nickel at Sudbury, we saw a big wooden crate with a screen on top, on which was printed "Beware, baby rattlers, do not feed." We got taken like the rest of the people. It contained baby rattlers. It daughter of Milton, and Bruce E. Smith of Ospringe. Sympathy is extended to George and Margaret Fletcher and family on the death of George's father Rupert Fletcher of Rockwood. The funeral was on Friday October 2, from the Custance Wall Funeral Home, Guelph, with burial at Memory Gardens in Breslau.

Linda McKenzie, a bride-to-be of this month, was honored last week at two miscellaneous showers. The first one was at the home of Lorilyn McKenzie. It was well attended and she received many useful gifts. On Saturday evening it was a community shower in the basement of the church. Doris Fines entertained with colored slides, then Sarah and Becky Hayden assisted Linda to open her gifts. Linda very graciously expressed her thanks.
