

KROEHLER ROCK MILLS Collection

In the mid 1800's, old world artisans travelled north on the Garafraxa Road, through the "QUEEN'S BUSH" to claim their free 50 acres of land in the "OLD WELLINGTON DISTRICT". The establishment of villages and basic founding industries grew and flourished. Near the intersection of the Durham Road and the Garafraxa Road, Rock Mills was located providing the craftsmen of the day with the materials they required for their homes and furnishings. Kroehler's craftsmen have incorporated all the inherent qualities in the Rock Mills Collection of correlated bedroom — dining room — accent tables — hand crafted charm — beauty — distinctive styling and detail of those earlier days.
