

Delay protest of lot levies

For the second time this year Halton Hills councillors and members of a special Acton Chamber of Commerce committee didn't have to protest proposed region commercial-industrial lot levies.

Last week region staff was directed to go back and complete its study of the problem of bringing in industrial-commercial lot levies in north Halton before any approval of lot levy fees.

Earlier this year staff proposed $2,400 an acre lot levies to finance servicing of undeveloped property. Council directed staff to study the matter and examine the impact on the north. Council also asked the province to front end the cost of water and sewer servicing of industrial-commercial property. At the time councillors and the chamber were going to protest that lot levies would hamper efforts to attract business here.

Recently region staff asked council to pass interim levies until the study is completed.

Last week the staff's newest recommendation was tabled, preventing debate, and a move later to lift the matter from the table failed.

Councillor Dave Whiting says that now with the issue on hold the councillors and Chamber won't present their brief until the staff report comes back or the matter is raised again.

It was awards day at Acton High School on Friday. Students from grades nine to 11 received awards for their scholastic achievements. Samantha Gopsill won the First Line Television award for Year 1 English; Tracy Diamond won the Beardmore Award for year One Science; Lorelei Buscher won the IGA Scholarship for Year 2 Family Studies; Monika George won the Nielsen's Clothing prize for Year 2 French; The Indusmin Award for Year 2 Environmental Science went to Naomi Donat; The Dr. J. Facey Award for Year 3 Biology went to Renata Brillinger; Denny's Insurance Prize was awarded to Jennifer Reast; Acton High School Technical Awards went to Ross Munro (year 1), Andrew Walton (Year 2), Paul McTrash (Year 3), Brent Fry (Year 4); The Fabric Shoppe Award for Family Studies went to Adele Titon, The Optimist Club Award went to Jay Kitching and Renata Brillinger. Student Association Awards were won by David Johns, Rick Pappillon, Emil Milnarevic, Blaire Smith and Laura Spauldin.

Canawinner Ceramics is a true family affair

Vicki Nibbs recently opened Canawinner Ceramics. The name was chosen because of a private joke she shares with her husband Cyril.

Ever hear of a hobby getting out of hand? That's exactly what happened to Vicki Nibbs and her ceramics. After an astounding 10 years, she has found the need to open up a ceramics business, just to give her a little spare time. Canawinner Ceramics opened for business two weeks ago and already has developed a large clientele. Vicki herself started about 10 years ago. In that time she found herself building up her reputation more and more and started teaching courses. She held home shows to sell her wares and take still more orders. A Sunday at the Bramalea City Centre Flea Market would produce almost $1,000 worth of business and that was every week. No one in the Nibbs family was immune to Vicki's thriving home business. Husband Cyril found himself pouring the molds, daughter Nicole and sons Clifford and Cyril Jr. helped clean, paint and other necessary jobs. Vicki explains that between her full-time job as secretary with the Region of Peel, and her supposedly part-time job of making the ceramics for the evening shows and the Sunday flea market, she was run ragged. She had no time for herself or her family. Ceramics was her life. About five weeks ago, Vicki got the notion in her head that she would like to have her own ceramics store. There was no place in town for hobbyists to purchase their greenware, glazes or decals, and she was running out of room at home. She was extremely lucky to find accommodations right away, beside O'Brien Meats, and within three weeks of the idea's birth moved in. Husband Cyril quit his job at the post office to work full time in the store, and Vicki hopes to eventually build the business up to the point where she can quit her job and also work full-time at Canawinner Ceramics.

In the meantime, Cyril pours all the molds for the greenware sold in the store. Other greenware can be ordered if they do not have a particular piece in stock. He also does the firings. Also sold are all types of glazes, decals, brushes, marbled greenware, and other ceramic accessories. Even kilns are sold, Vicki noted. Customers with greenware needing firing can come in and get their work processed, even if the greenware was not purchased in their store, Vicki says. It takes about three days to get the pieces back. Anyone with any problem can also go to Vicki for help or advice. Vicki is even in the teaching business. She teaches ceramics Monday and Tuesday nights, and will be starting up a Wednesday evening class in the new year. Vicki says anyone making ceramics for Christmas gifts should get to work now, if they haven't already started. She'll be glad to help in any way.

Golden Agers Enjoy banquet at Legion

by Edith Frankland
On November 19 the senior citizens of the Golden Age Club were entertained at the Legion by the Legion members and the Rotary club. We were wined and dined and thoroughly enjoyed a delicious turkey supper. Once again entertainment by the Baron Show Band from Toronto was a highlight. Father Christmas paid us an early visit and we each received a present. It was a great send-off to the festive season. Thank you Father Christmas and all your merry men of the Legion. On November 10 the Golden Age Club went to the Hyde Nursing Home in Guelph and entertained the patients. They seemed to enjoy us and many joined in on the old songs. It was a rewarding day especially for some of our members who met patients whom they hadn't seen for years. A former resident and member of our club Ford Knight performed the courtesies. They have six alleys for bowling on Monday afternoons. It is a jolly and sometimes quite a noisy group (depending on our luck and skill. November 10 Evelyn Clarke offered coffee and goodies in honor of her father, Joe Fuller who had celebrated his 90 birthday the previous day. Joe really showed some of our bowlers up too.
