

Robert Little Kindergarten class was part of that school's Junior Christmas concert last week.

Joseph and Mary rode to Bethlehem on a donkey. Actually, St. Joseph's Separate School students Leanne Munday, Peter Delisimunovic and Christian Schroeder were the stand-ins at the Christmas concert last night (Monday).

Joel Dowle, left, was Rudolph as he led his reindeer classmates on Christmas Eve deliveries at the Robert Little concert.

This week thru the lens

Laura Smith of Brookville School played the Orff instrument during A Christmas Festival Monday.

Speyside School children put on a series of Christmas plays and songs last Wednesday night. Here, Mrs. Turner's grades one and two class performs.

Kelly Jupp and Helen Sapples of Brookville School played the Orff instrument during A Christmas Festival Monday.

Brookville students held A Festival Christmas yesterday (Monday), mixing traditional and modern song to display the true meaning of Christmas.

A present for Santa was performed by Mrs. Smith's Robert Little class.

Staff changes

Halton Board of Education recently approved the appointment of Heide Lang to McKenzie-Smith Middle School and Gloria Roberts to both Robert Little and Georgetown's Centennial School.

The resignation of Clare Balch from McKenzie-Smith was approved at the same meeting.

Correction

There was an error in a headline in last week's paper. The headline for a report from the Ladies' Fair Board stated the Acton Agricultural Society annual will be on January 22, but the meeting is on January 23, as was stated in the story. The Free Press regrets the error.
