

He shoots, he scores. Robble Lockhurst and Mark Manuel spent the Christmas vacation keeping in shape for the hockey.

Winter fun around town

Andrew Priestman discovered throwing snowballs is a lot of fun, especially if brother Kevin bares the brunt of his fun. The pair had their fun near the Elizabeth Dr. parkette last week.

Joseph Geng is too young to drive the real thing so he prefers to handle his plastic snowmobile.

Trevor Prueter made the best of a mogul (large bump of snow) on Elizabeth Dr. and had a great time flying through the air.

Joey Brillinger flies through the air with the greatest of ease... well, maybe not ease. There's a few spills involved. Joey was one of many boys who used the Elizabeth Dr. hill to his advantage over the Christmas holidays.

Greg Wagner just couldn't stay away from school. During Christmas vacation Greg could be found at the Robert Little school hill practising his toboggan skills. He got a bit confused though and thought it was a surf board for a while.

WHEN CHUBBY ISN'T CUTE ANYMORE, IT'S TIME TO JOIN WEIGHT WATCHERS.

Try and they'll give you a cookie. Be good, and you'll get a whole chocolate cake. Who's food is it? Friends, no wonder so many cute, chubby babies grow up to be overweight. At Weight Watchers, we teach grown-ups how to eat all over again. And we do it without starving you, or boring you. Our newest food plans feature many of your favorite foods, the peanut butter, popcorn and honey—well, in times of course. And you get great, well-balanced, nutritional menus. Whether you're 12 or over 30, Weight Watchers can teach you how to take off the pounds. And help you keep them off.

You can be cute without being chubby. And you'll find that our simple menus will make you feel so much better than cookies.
