Lower grants ceiling
Halton Region will be giving out about $50,000 less in grants this year. Councillor Dave Whiting reports Health and Social Services Committee decided Tuesday to lower the grants ceiling to just over $422,000 from the $467,000 given out last year.

1st Acton Beavers had a thrill at the winter carnival at Mountsberg when they were treated to an old-fashioned sleigh ride.

Ebenezer Mr. Daigle is 105 years old

Love is sharing our faith, Gal. 5:22. Love is doing little thoughtful things. Laura Weiss read from Matthew, and Mildred Ward read Deut. 6:5. Love is the complete commitment of ourselves to God. The ladies joined in prayer for their bereaved sister Mabel Frank. "Jesus loves me" was sung for the children. Lois Beaton assisted the hostess in serving lunch, and Laura Weiss acted as courtesy convener.

Only minimal damage resulted to one of two cars involved in a two vehicle collision on Saturday in Eden Mills. Guelph OPP report cars driven by Rickie Ysselstein, 29, of Stratford and Kenneth Hurren, 26, of Acton were headed eastbound when the collision occurred. Police set estimated damage at $250 to the Ysselstein car and say the Hurren car was undamaged.

Halton Hills Town Fathers and Mothers cost taxpayers a total of $100,032.07 in 1981. Mayor Peter Pomeroy was at the top of the list for monies paid out of the municipal bank account. He received $16,500 in remuneration, $172.80 in the town's contribution to the Canada Pension Plan, and $2,656.19 in conferences, seminars and other expenses, for a total of $19,328.99.

Acton councillor Dave Whiting amassed $25 in conferences, for a total of $6,608.20. Terry Grubbe attended $450 worth of conferences, costing taxpayers $7,033.20 and councillor Ross Knechtel was given $268 for conferences. He however, did not pay towards the pension plan, and received $6,798.04 over the year.

Esquising councillor Russ Miller saw $155 worth of conferences, for a total of $6,738.20. Other Esquising representatives, George Malby and Pam Sheldon were not sent to any conferences, leaving their total costs at $6,583.20.

Acton delegate...

Foster agrees with pundits who believe Rae's election as leader puts the party back to the same level of strength it attained in the '75 election when New Democrats won the Official Opposition. When the new leader's capabilities are fully known across the province Foster says he can "guarantee" polls show he's viewed by all voters as Ontario's "most competent leader."

He compares Rae favorably with former leader Stephen Lewis who was highly regarded by voters of all political stripes and naturally far above Michael Cassidy, whose election as leader Foster always regarded as a mistake. He preferred runner-up Ian Deans, who is much like Rae. Rae's advantage over Lewis in terms of being able to lead the NDP to power is he is younger and viewed as more moderate.

"He's (Rae) a bright new star and the Tories are in the later stages of senility as a government." Another convention highlight was the election of his candidate for party president, Marion Chambers of Erin who carried the NDP banner in the last provincial election.
