Need donations for fire victim

Friends and neighbors of a young woman left homeless after fire levelled her home last week have rallied around and are asking for donations to help her get started all over again.

Ann Dawkins lost everything in the blaze which killed her two pet cats who were trapped in the small cottage about one-and-a-half miles below Highway 7 on the Fifth Line of Nassageweya. There was no one home at the time of the fire.

Doug Wood, a neighbor of Miss Dawkins, explained that she is a university student who now has nothing left but the clothes she was wearing Saturday night. She lost all her clothes, furniture, school books and family heirlooms.

Miss Dawkins is well known in Acton having worked at Halton Hills Veterinarian Services before returning to university last September.

Donations of any kind would be appreciated. Wood told the Acton Free Press. A pot luck supper will be held sometime in June and all are welcome and asked to bring something the fire victim might be able to use. A definite date has not yet been set. Donations in the meantime, however, are most welcome too.

Anyone wishing to help out whether financially or with clothing or furniture is asked to call Wood at 853-2035.

The cause of the fire is undetermined, according to Halton Hills Fire Chief Mick Holmes.

Foster Parents on Cable TV

Cable subscribers in the Acton area will soon be able to tune their sets in to a show all about Foster Parents Plan of Canada (PLAN). Entitled "One Child, One Life", the show will air on Wednesday, May 5 at 8 p.m. and Wednesday, May 19 at 6.30 p.m. It will appear on Halton Community Television, channel 4 on your dial.

Pat Wood and Coral Greaves hosted the BIA Welcome into Spring wine and cheese party at the Wooden Heart last Wednesday.

Truck in ditch

A 24-year-old driver of a Ridley Cartage truck escaped injury last Tuesday when the vehicle he was driving ended up in the ditch near Chudleigh's Apple Orchards on Highway 25.

Milton OPP report Brian DeBoer of Guelph was south bound on Highway 25 at 11.55 a.m. when he attempted to pull over to the side of the road, lost control on the shoulder, and went into the ditch.

Police estimate $20,000 to the truck, and damage to both sides of the ditch. About $3,000 worth of guide posts and a Bell Telephone pole were also wiped out. No charges have been laid.

MP stresses

Must save leather firms

Otto Jelinek, MP for Halton, and representatives of the leather industry met last night (Tuesday) in Ottawa with the Economic Development Committee to discuss the reinstatement of leather quotas.

This meeting follows a tour of Beardmore last month by Jelinek in which he learned of the hardships of a leather-oriented town such as Acton.

Jelinek explained at councillors' drop-in Friday that if something is not done the leather business in Canada will disappear and businesses such as Beardmore will close down.

"I am not a protectionist," he said Friday, "... but the government is ignoring certain industries, such as shoes, and the auto industries." He accused the government of taking a bandaid approach to industry. He claimed if that approach is continued, "we are only going to have natural resources to export."

Jelinek admitted when he first heard from the leather industry representatives, he thought they just wanted protection for their own good. However, now that he has looked into the situation he has realized they are right, and the industry is in great difficulty.

Already it will take six months with quotas to make things good again, he estimated. "Everyday means thousands of jobs," he said.

"We are going to do everything we can next to bell ringing over the issue," Jelinek said.

The MP claims the government is depending so much on the sale of natural resources that "we are losing industry."

Jelinek noted Japan has to import all its energy and natural resources, yet is number one in the economic world. He said their success is in their dedication to their jobs. He claimed if a person went to a Honda factory, all they would see in the parking lot would be Hondas, because that is what they want to drive, not because they have seen told what to drive.

 Cajic said he never had a chance to reduce the noise levels, he was pushed against the wall by the neighbors, police and courts. He asked the neighbors to compromise and give him time.

Miller noted "You want another chance, yet you have not done anything to show you are going to improve," he continued, "while you are trying (to curb the noise) people are being disturbed. They have a right to enjoy their property just the same as you."

Bylaw enforcement officer Jack Lusty pointed out if council grants permission for the permit, the regional police are able to go on the property at any time to inspect and monitor the area. If council does not give permission, and the Liquor Licence Board of Ontario denies the permit, police can only enter the property with the permission of the land owner or the person in charge, unless he saw from the outside, a law was broken. They can search people coming and going on the property.

If the neighbors complain about the noise the police can enter the property, but act only on that complaint.

Councillor Dave Whiting pointed out that having worked with the police (as an RCMP officer), he is aware of the problems it will cause from the police point of view, however, Cajic "no longer has credibility. He has told us he had no control over the people. We have a responsibility to others in the area."

Councillor Mike Armstrong said by not favoring the permit wouldn't mean the noise problems would stop. "By refusing the license it doesn't mean they are going to move from the property or cancel the various events that are already planned," he said. "We are just fooling ourselves, and we better clean up our own act first," he told councillors.

Sheldon pointed out the permit is a privilege and not a right. "They have not demonstrated any responsibility."

"Mr. Cajic is asking for our co-operation," Pomeroy said, "and based on the history of lack of co-operation from the group he represents, they (the permit and the noise), are related."
 Armstrong contended that by not supporting the permit, Halton Hills was just encouraging people to bring booze in the trunk of their car.
