Drownings.... (Continued from page 1)

Nick Dimik

Late last week this newspaper interviewed the father and mother of the second victim Nikola Dimik, whose name was released just before press time, for the July 21 issue.

Milko Dimik said he has seen no mention of the picnic table in the water, which a friend said was there, and he "keeps thinking" it must have had something to do with the drownings. However, he fears nobody will ever know what caused the tragedy. Nick went to the beach with his older brother Paul, 10, Milko said, and the younger boy didn't want to go home and asked to stay longer. Paul told his parents he waited a while and then went looking for his brother, but couldn't find him. He asked a lifeguard to page his brother over the bullhorn, but the request was refused, the father stated. Paul found Nick's clothing and went home and asked his mother Maria if Nick had come home, but he hadn't. Mrs. Dimik was not even aware her sons had left the area of their Kingham Rd. townhouse until Paul returned home.

Mrs. Dimik and Paul drove around looking for Nick. They stopped at the park and saw the ambulance leaving with the body of the other victim Brent Patey, and then left and continued their search before returning and seeing the ambulance and fire trucks at the beach. Mrs. Dimik said she knew her son was dead and ran screaming to the beach. She discovered her feeling was correct. She also asks why a picnic table was in the water.

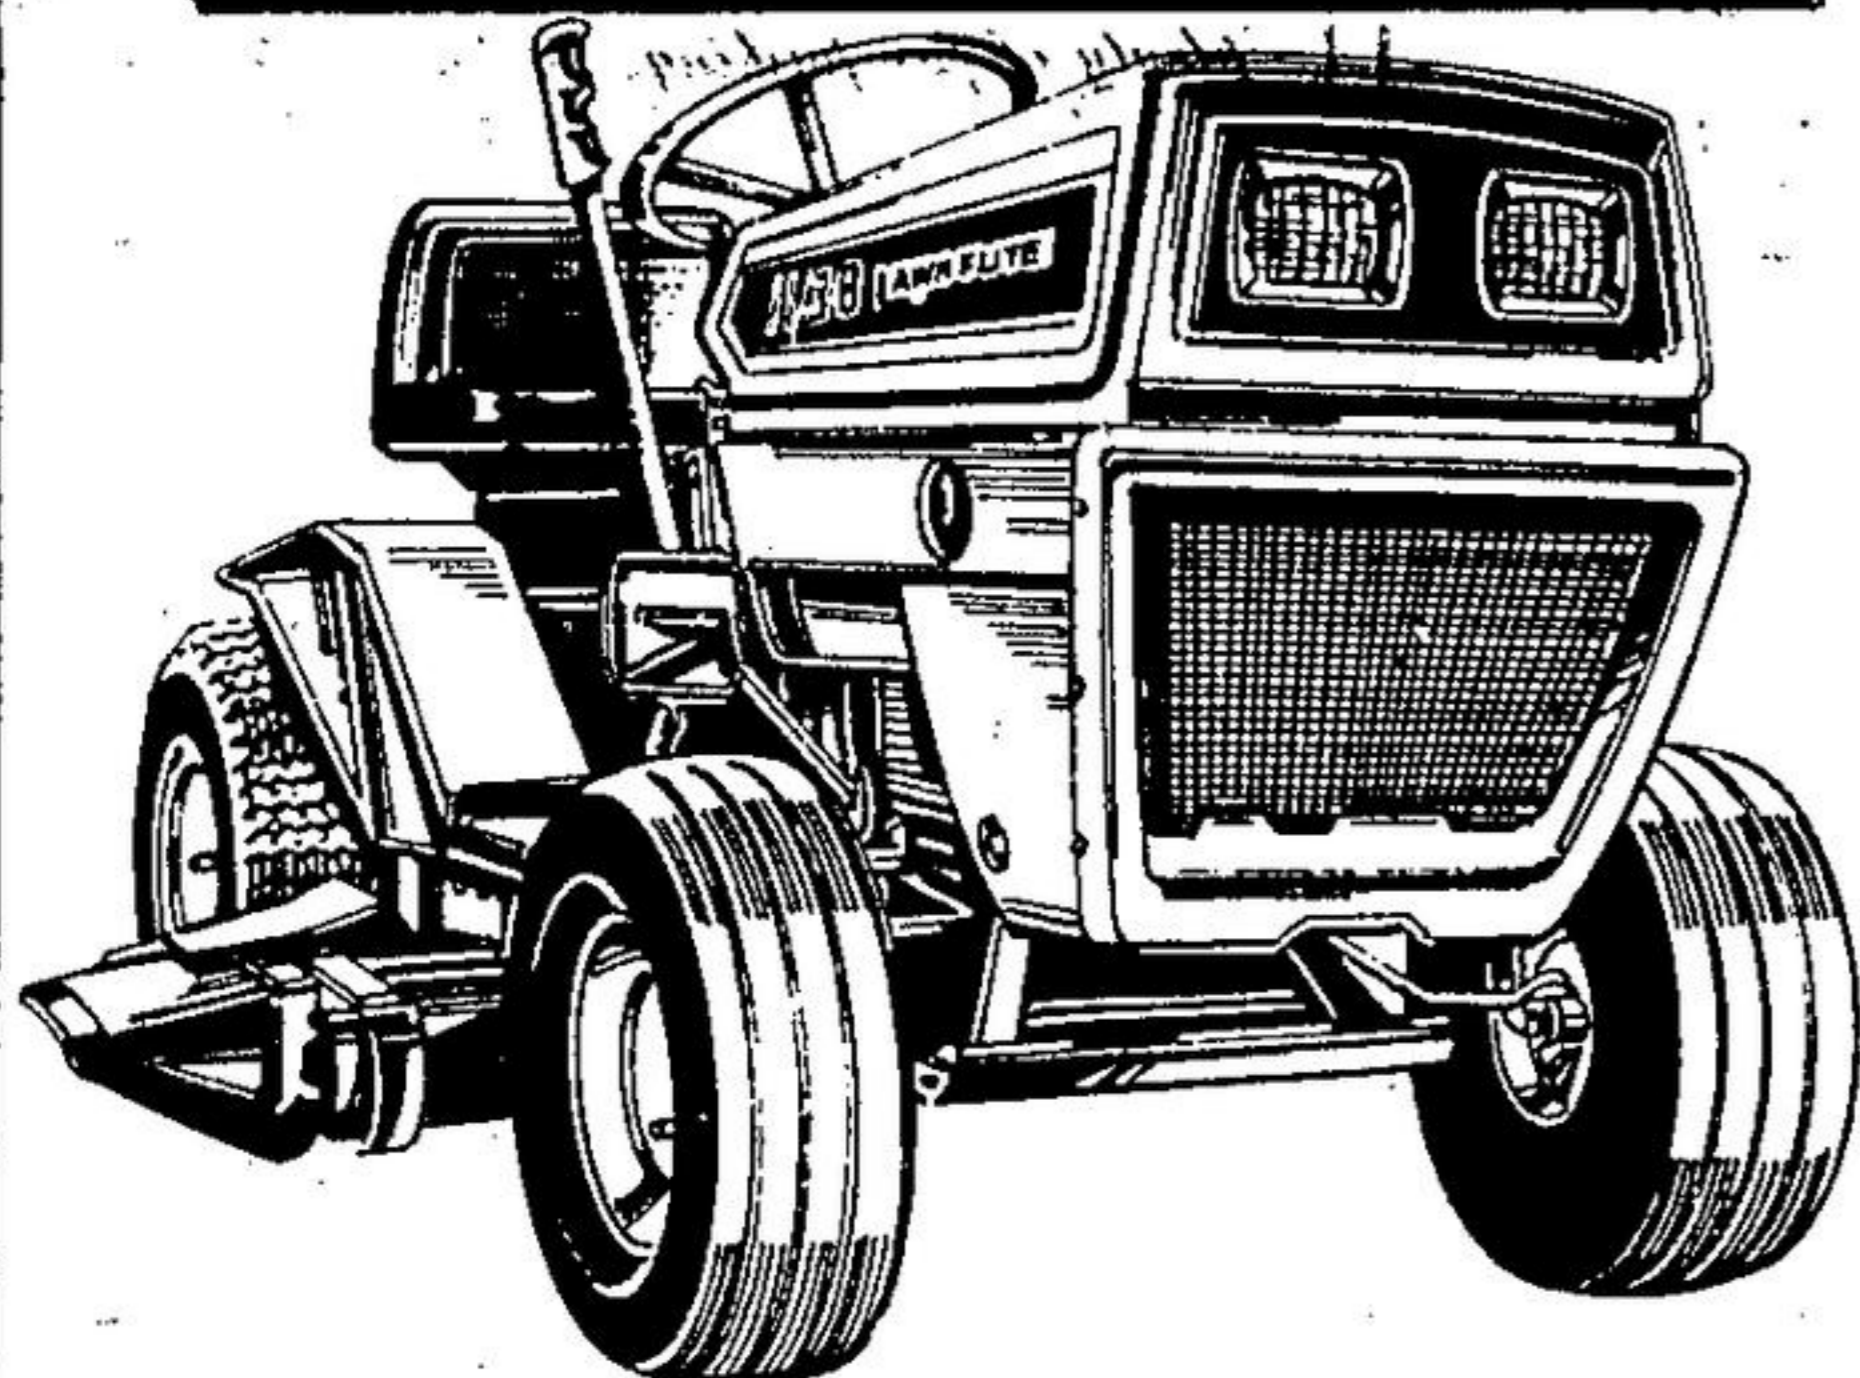

Tom Atherton and Darren Edmondson and their two friends from Quebec drew the Actario tickets Saturday morning.
