Dive for artifacts

An underwater dive will take place at Crawford Lake on Steeles Ave. and Guelph Line in Halton on Thursday, August 19, at 1 p.m.

Divers are looking for Indian artifacts in the 80-foot deep lake and hope to discover more information about the Indian settlement located nearby. Currently, archaeologists are digging for the location of an Indian Village and have found six longhouses where Iroquois Indians existed in the late 1400's.

Several thousand artifacts have been discovered in the area and recently, a bone-awl was found which was used to carve symbols into deer hide.

Dr. William Finlayson, site archaeologist and Executive Director of the Museum of Indian Archaeology in London, Ontario will be on hand to provide further information about the ongoing dig and Crawford Lake.

Crawford Lake's small surface and unusual depth has enabled archaeologists to record environmental information as far as 15,000 years.

A fund-raising program is now in progress to recreate the Indian Village and to also build an Interpretive Centre where visitors can obtain information about the village, Crawford Lake and the Niagara Escarpment.

4-H's busy preparing for events

With the approach of fall fair season, Halton 4-H members are preparing for their 4-H Achievement Day. Depending on the specific club, members will be taking part in the Halton Plowing Match, Georgetown Fair, Acton Fair, or Milton Fair.

The Halton 4-H Farm Machinery Club will be competing at the Halton Plowing Match on September 11th.

At the Georgetown Fall Fair on September 10 and 11th the Halton 4-H Field Crop Club members will display their crop exhibits.

Acton 4-H Calf Club exhibitors will take part in the dairy and beef classes at the Acton Fall Fair (September 18 and 19).

Milton Fall Fair (September 24-26th) will involve many of Halton's 4-H members. Members of the Halton 4-H Junior Dairy, Senior Dairy, Beef Calf, Swine and Sheep Clubs will be exhibiting on the 25th. As well there will be Interclub Showmanship, Grand Champion Showmanship, and Herdsman classes.

On September 26th the Halton 4-H Poultry and Horticulture Clubs will have their Achievement Day exhibits displayed. The Interclub Exhibit Competition and a selection of 4-H Special Projects will be on display in the Junior Building.
