The LaLeche League groups in the North-Halton area are now offering a series of meetings for couple who are interested in information about breastfeeding and parenting.

The group will meet the third Sunday of the month at 2 p.m. During a series of four meetings the group informally discusses different phases of breastfeeding.

All meetings in the series will be held at the home of Bill and Marilyn Cox. For further information, please call 878-4803 or 878-4732.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dills, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hayward of Milton, Mrs. Shirley Haven of Comber, Jane Elliott and Joan Hoz, of Toronto, all very well know in Acton, spent a recent weekend in Picton, Ontario, attending the inaugural ceremonies for the restored organ in St. Mary Magdalene Museum. (See September 1 Free Press issue) The organ, restored by Actonian George Elliott, had been of great interest to the family over the past few years and they were honored to be invited guests, joined by relatives in the Picton area.

Carla Wood is looking for horse back riders in the Acton and Rockwood areas to participate in a special trail ride from the Halton Presbytery grounds on the Sixth Line of Nassagaweya on October 2. Riders go out and get sponsors and funds raised to go toward purchase of a farm in the Guelph area for the proposed Sunrise Equestrian Centre for Disabled Riders. For more information call Carla at 853-2035 or Ann Kaine, 550 Alice St., Fergus, 843-4379.

Going once, going twice, gone will be a familiar sound at the fair this Saturday at 4:30 p.m. when prize winning sides of pork from local farmers will go on the auction block. Max Storey and Neil Davis will be the auctioneers. Cutting and wrapping arrangements will be made at the time of purchase and the meat has all been federally inspected by J.M. Schneider Co. Ltd. of Kitchener, one of the sponsors of this Halton-Peel Pork Producers event. Other sponsors are The Acton Fall Fair, O'Brien's Meats, Pure Line Swine of Rockwood and Al's Custom Meats.

David Watson displays a video disc and movie he has for rent.

Watsons look to future with video rentals

Video is the future and David and Brenda Watson are getting in on the ground floor.

Because the Willow St. couple believe video is "going to become as popular as television in the 1950s", they have set up Home Video and Disc Rentals, a business which gives the general public an opportunity to rent a disc player and watch an array of movies, all at an affordable cost.

Already, many people, have watched such classics as Apocalypse Now, Love Story, Mash, The Godfather, On Golden Pond and The Graduate in their own living rooms, on their own televisions. Other movies offered are Airplane, Blue Hawaii, Blue Lagoon, Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid, Foul Play, From Russia with Love, Gislisse, Goldfinger, Heaven Can Wait, Looking for Mr. Goodbar, Ordinary People, Superman, The Muppet Movie, Death Wish, Tess and Cousin Cousine.

The cost of renting the unit naturally depends on the number of movies and the length of time needed. But, says Watson, it is still cheaper than going out to the theatre, buying the popcorn and drinks.

Right now, Home Video and Disc Rentals is operating from their home in the Presbyterian Manse. However, in October, the machines will be on display and rented out of Bluenose Ceramics in the old Sweetman Shoe store. That new business is run by Watson's mother Renee Watson and sister Jane Robertson. He is hoping business will get even better when they are more visible downtown.

two men also used the pillows and found it worthwhile.

The new neck support pillow is molded polyurethane foam which is durable, odorless, high resilient and non-allergenic. People with and without neck problems have used the pillow on an experimental basis, and all have converted from the standard pillow.

The slow invention process continued after Clark moved to Rockwood over one-and-a-half years ago.

Woodbridge Foam, in Woodbridge, has helped greatly in the creation of the pillow. They have been in on the scene through the three different molds that were made.

Dr. Smythe, head of the rheumatic disease department at Wellesley Hospital in Toronto, got his patients to use the pillow while in the hospital. An almost immediate relief resulted. Friends of the
