

Approve site plan for new Citadel

Halton Hills site plan review committee recently approved plans for the new Halton Hills Salvation Army Citadel to be on Mill St. East, Acton.

Eight conditions were attached to the approval of site plans for the new church which will cost about $500,000.

A "suitable" snow storage area must be added to the site plan and the sidewalk on Church St. must be reinstated "across the proposed entranceway" to the satisfaction of the Town engineer.

Lighting poles aren't to be any higher than 3 metres high and the lights can't shine onto adjacent properties. A letter of credit for $1,000 is to be filed with Halton Hills to cover the proposed works on public property including entranceways, curb removal and replacement and sodding and paving.

Details of grading, drainage and entrance to the property shown on the drawings by the architect William Jarrett must be "strictly adhered to" and a building permit must be obtained within a year of approval of the site plan.

Site servicing, including sanitary manhole and water metre, must be approved by the region and a sanitary servicing permit must be obtained before a building permit is issued.

A landscaping plan must be prepared and approved by the planning department.

Jane Trueman, Paul Gorjup Valedictorians

Jane Trueman and Paul Gorjup will deliver the Valedictorian address at this Friday night's Acton High School commencement exercises.

Forty-three grade 13 students and 143 grade 12 graduates will receive their diplomas. In addition 12 other students will be honored as Ontario Scholars and 54 awards will be presented to current students and graduates for academic, sports and other school life achievements.

Andreas Thiel will offer a piano solo as the musical interlude and principal Betty Moore will give both opening and closing remarks.

Following is the list of graduates:

Household Hints

by Pamela McElroy

Deposits on old kettles can be removed by boiling a half-and-half water and vinegar solution. Let cool overnight, and clean out the next morning.

Plants seem to float on air if you hang them with nylon fishing line. It's very strong, and practically invisible.

To reduce smells in a freshly painted room, cut an onion in half and put in a dish of water, cut side up. Discard the next day.

Rubber gloves will last longer if they're reinforced before you use them. Turn them inside out and stick a piece of adhesive tape across the tops of each finger to protect against finger nail punctures.
