by Helen Murray
An Eden Mills man, employed by Coxe Construction, is on loan to Cedarapids manufacturing Company to work in Saudi Arabia.

Eric Dietz, of Park St., left October 16 for six months in the middle east to first dismantle an asphalt plant in Tamra and relocate it in the nation's capital of Riyadh.

Dietz explains the plant is being moved because it has run out of work at its present location and has to move on. This is not uncommon, even in Canada, as most asphalt plants move four or five times a year. Once the roads are built in one area, there is no use for the plant.

Barrie and Coxe was building a nearby highway. He approached them and asked them for a job. His first job was with Coxe's asphalt plant, and that is the direction his career has taken.

Wed on lawn after hail

by Doris Fines
After the rain and hail, which made the bride fashionably late, the wedding of Nora Lynn Stubbington, daughter of Ken and Anna Stubbington, and Gordon Henry Syms, son of Mrs. Adeline Syms of North Vancouver, B.C., was celebrated August 28, on the lawn of the bride's parents' farm home on the First Line of Erin.

The matron of honor was Laurel Vlietstra, sister of the bride, and the two flowergirls were Brenda Stubbington and Rosanne Vlietstra, nieces of the bride. The rings, for the double ring ceremony, were carried by Jamie Stubbington, nephew of the bride. John Hambleton, friend of the groom, was best man.

Organ music was provided by Elizabeth Ferrier, cousin of the bride, and Valerie Hall and Judy Kozak, another cousin, sang and played their guitars. The ceremony, written by the bride and groom, was performed by the chaplain, Mrs. Barbara Kulcher of Oakville.

The bride and her mother made the bride's long white dress, the matron of honor's blue, square necked gown, and the flowergirls' blue flowered and ruffled sun dresses. The girls all wore wide brimmed hats, decorated with silk flowers, and carried bouquets arranged by the bride.

The reception was held at the Acton Curling Club. The bride's cousin, Glen Jackson of Ospringe, was master of ceremonies. Nella Jackson, the bride's aunt, welcomed the groom to the family, and Darryl Syms, son of the groom, welcomed the bride to his family. John Stubbington, the bride's brother, was official photographer.

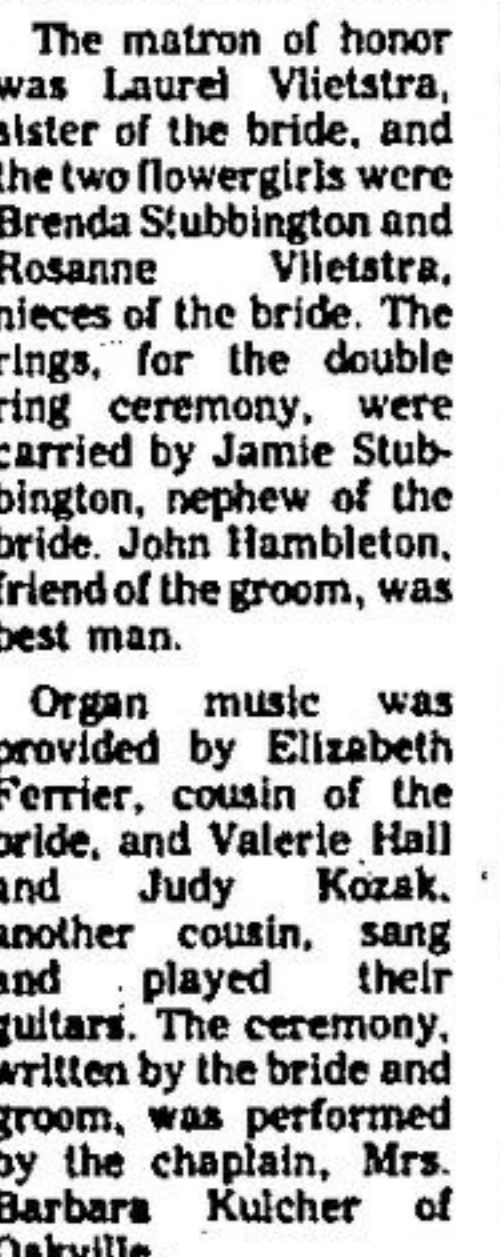

Guests attended from New York, Vancouver, Calgary, Toronto, Windsor and locally. The bride and groom honeymooned on Manitoulin Island, and later in St. Lucia. They now reside on the Fourth Line, North of Milton.
