Region hires money man

By ROBERT ASHIE
A 36-year-old native of Italy has been sifted out of over 100 applicants to become Halton's director of finance and treasurer. Joseph Rinaldo will leave his post as acting commissioner of finance with Hamilton-Wentworth Region to assume his Halton duties in about two weeks. His annual salary will be $58,500.

Channel 13 cameraman knew all the right angles while filming the television program Tempo at the olde Hide House last week.

"It was an open competition," the successful applicant said recently. "Everyone has the right to enter... that's the right way to do it. To me that's the right approach."

Mr. Rinaldo, a registered industrial accountant has been with Hamilton-Wentworth as the director of revenue since 1974. Prior to the regional post he was a nine-year employee with the City of Hamilton.

Halton is one of the choice regions in the province both in terms of employment and from a residential viewpoint. In his new capacity, Mr. Rinaldo is looking to "make sure of value for every dollar that you spend." This is done in conjunction with constraining government spending and still allowing for growth, he said.
