George Kearns, were at the church for the ceremony, and all gathered afterwards at the Smith home for lunch. Sherlock and Mary Aitken and daughter Heather of Ottawa, visited for a few days with Sherlock's parents Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Aitken. Eighteen Ospringe Guides had a busy and interesting day last Friday, which they spent at Mountsberg Wildlife Centre with their leaders, Helen Dubeau, Ann Root, Candy Armstrong and Doris Swackhamer. This outing was to help the girls earn their naturalist badges. A naturalist girl there took them on a hike on which they would stop to listen to the birds, identify them, by droppings, footprints, and the way bark was chewed. Twenty-five Brownies, plus their leaders, others, and a few brothers, also enjoyed the day at Mountsberg Conservation. The girls hiked along the lake, viewed the animals in the barn, and stared at the Centre's extensive collection. In the afternoon the girls, under the direction of the park naturalists, explored the trails and woods, looking for wild life.
