Brenda Thibert and Peter Turkosz honeymooned in Nashville, Tennessee before they made their home on Willow St.

Turkosz-Thibert light unity candle

In a double ring ceremony followed by the lighting of the unity candle, Brenda Marie Thibert married Peter Andrew Turkosz.

The ceremony was conducted by Rev. Gerald Rennie at Knox Presbyterian Church, and Ted Hanson provided the organ music. Brenda is the daughter of Mary Ann and Randolph Thibert of Acton, while Peter is the son of Shirley and Peter Turkosz, all of Acton.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a turn of the century long sleeve white silk organza and chantilly lace gown. The sweetheart neckline was outlined in an organza ruffle and had a fitted bodice. A double veil with a scattering of silk bows fell from a white wide brimmed hat covered in matching lace and banded in nylon net. Around her neck she wore a diamond drop heart pendant she received as a wedding gift from the groom.

Brenda carried a cascading bouquet of red roses, baby pink carnations and white stephenotis with ivy and lace in which a tiny Bible was placed which belonged to the bride's grandmother. The bridal attendants wore colorful pink aquani gowns with embroidered lace capes, accented with light pink wide brimmed hats with matching bands. They carried nosegays of pink lilies, white and burgundy baby carnations and little pink stephenotis with white ribbons.

The attendants were: maid of honor, Tina Gunn, friend of the bride; and bridesmaids, Marlene Rocher, cousin of the groom, Debbie Turkosz sister of the groom and Azelle Laffin, friend of the bride.

The flowergirl, Darlene Thibert, the bride's younger sister wore a short puffy sleeved white silk gown with rows of nylon silk ruffles at the yoke. Her dress was complemented with a white brimmed hat with a white band. She carried a nosegay of pink lilies, burgundy and white baby carnations and little pink stephenotis with white ribbons.

The groom wore a light brown tuxedo which was trimmed in a darker brown. Attendants were: best man, Bob Turkosz, brother of the groom; and ushers, Ron Turkosz, and Gary Turkosz, brothers of the groom and Mike Nicholls, friend of the groom. The ringbearer was Travis Thibert, the bride's younger brother. He carried a white lace and satin pillow to which the wedding bands were attached.

A dinner and dance followed at the Acton Legion. The bride's mother received wearing a powderblue gown accented by a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother wore a blue gown with a corsage of white and red roses. Blythe Dowling, the groom's uncle, was master of ceremonies. Other toasts and short speeches were given by the bride's father, the groom's father, the bestman, Ron McKnight and the groom.

The wedding cake was made by Joyce Dowling, the groom's aunt and decorated by Mrs. Nellis of Acton. Prior to the wedding the bride was guest of honor at four showers hosted by: the groom's sister-in-law and sisters Bonnie, Sharon and Debbie Turkosz; maid of honor Tina Gunn and bridesmaid Marlene Rocher and Mrs. C. Rocher; the bride's sister Darlene Thibert, assisted by Mrs. Thibert; the employees of Heller's, Cecile Tremblay, Janice Kaine and Barbara Ann Marsh. Bob Turkosz held a stag for the groom at the Acton arena.

As the newlyweds left for their honeymoon in Nashville, Tennessee, the bride wore a dusty rose angel crepe gown and a sheer jacket, and a white brimmed white hat. A cream orchid corsage completed her ensemble. Mr. and Mrs. Turkosz are living on Willow St., Acton.

Guides put council on spot

Out of the mouths of babes came some home truths, Monday night when Girl Guides from Pineview and Glen Williams asked questions of Halton Hills councillors.

Nicole Depris asked if the council chamber had been checked to conform with fire regulations, and told council she didn't see any fire exit signs. Mayor Pete Pomeroy, amid the laughter, replied he really didn't know if it had been checked, but said he would pass on the question to the Fire Chief. "I'll make sure you get an answer," said the mayor. "Maybe it would solve our problem if the building was condemned immediately."

Another Guide asked what the Town does with the taxes. The mayor explained the taxes are split three ways, with almost 60 per cent going to the Halton Board of Education to run the schools, the Region gets about 12 per cent and the Town gets the rest. He said it is spent on roads, recreation, gathering and disposing of garbage, "and you pay the councillors and the 125 people who work for the Town."

Another asked, "Are you just councillors or do you have another job?" "Some do and some don't" replied Pomeroy, "I don't have another job at this time." "Why are the Pineview school bus routes so long?" asked another Guide. The mayor explained council has nothing to do with that and referred her to the Esquusing school board representative Dick Howitt for an answer.

Elect new exec.

By Mrs. H. McLean

New members on profession of faith received into the church fellowship were Shari Ann Gilbert and Diane Leslie Daigle, also Darlene Tripp-Simms by transfer.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Maloney donated a Christmas poinsettia. The church annual meeting is planned for next Sunday, after church. Ladies may bring either sandwiches, or some dessert.

The January meeting of the UCW was held at the Kitching home. After a delightful lunch, the Rev. Russel Finley installed the following officers for 1983: President, Lois Beaton; first vice-president, Audrey Weideman; second vice-president, Laura Hower; secretary, Isobel McLean; treasurer and pianist, Audrey Kitching; social convener, Marion Diamond; citizenship convener, Eleanor Ferguson; visiting convener, Jean Early; program convener, Sadie Moore; archivist, Dilys Joss. Marion Diamond was Art. Diamond, Eleanor Ferguson and Ed. Wilson are indisposed.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Moffat visited with their daughter Norma and family in B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Diamond, Tracy and Greg enjoyed a two-week holiday in Jamaica.

Resuscitator to Cobblehill

Firefighters responded to a resuscitation call on Cobblehill Rd. Sunday at 1:28 a.m. According to Deputy Chief Bob Hyde, a baby was having breathing problems and was later transferred to Guelph hospital.

C of C meeting Jan. 31

Matt Fischer, Halton's Director of Business Development, will be the guest speaker at the Acton Chamber of Commerce annual general meeting at Acton Legion January 31. Fischer will talk about Acton's industrial-commercial prospects now and in the future. Tickets are $10 each and are being mailed to members now with their membership renewal information. Others interested in attending the dinner should call Dave Whiting.
