Cubs make bird feeders at work shop

by Jean Layman
North Halton District Cubs held their annual craft workshop for first year Cubs last Saturday, January 15 in the hall of St. John's United Church. Close to 90 Cubs, leaders, and parents attended from Acton, Ballinafad, Georgetown, Glen Williams and Limehouse. ACM Dawn Lockhart checked off the Cubs as they arrived and Pinned on their name tags. Pre-registration was held two weeks ago by Elaine Hannah, assistant district commissioner—cubs. Cubmaster Del Wood welcomed the Cubs and the event started with the Grand Howl. The Cubs were divided into three groups and rotated to the crafts. Bird feeders were made from cedar logs under the direction of Del Wood. Autograph books under the leadership of Jack and Jean Layman, and Birch bark woggles by cubmaster Peter Froemmel. The cedar logs for the bird feeders were cut and donated by Frank and Elaine Hannah. Following the lunch period Cubmaster Brenda Basinger ran games. During the afternoon Ross and Terry Colter instructed the boys to make a wall plaque using the Jungle animals. Each boy was given a piece of plywood 8"x11" and then stenciled the jungle animal of his choice onto the plywood. Using a hammer and nail punch they made a mosaic design on the plaque leaving the animal smooth. The final touch was a coat of Rez—making this craft a real highlight of the day. This event was co-ordinated by Evelyn Owen, and Elaine Hannah. Mrs. Hannah was in charge of all lunch and refreshments.
