February is heart month

Some 103 canvassers are out door knocking this month for the annual February Heart Fund Drive.

Campaign manager Vic Bristow has set a $4,500 goal for this year, up $200 from last year's total. While the volunteers will be visiting homes, Bristow himself will be going to businesses and industries.

There will also be boxes of roses around town.

This February, the Canadian Heart Fund hopes to raise $18 million across Canada, over $8 million in Ontario alone. The money will go to fight heart disease and stroke which are the country's major health enemies.

Allow addition at Nor Halton Park

Halton Hills general committee Monday night agreed to pass a bylaw which will amend zoning for Nor Halton Park to permit expansion of a recreation building at the campground.

Last year the Town passed a zoning bylaw which would make it necessary for anyone wanting to establish a new recreation centre or expand facilities at an existing recreation centre in the rural area, to come to council or Halton Hills committee of Adjustment for permission.

Merv Barber, owner of Nor Halton Park objected to the bylaw.

Barber wants to expand the existing recreation building for more indoor recreation. The addition would be 38 by 23 feet. The campground will now be rezoned on a "site specific basis."

Councillor Pam Sheldon was concerned that allowing the campground building expansion and zoning amendment might not preserve the integrity of the bylaw giving Halton Hills control over future recreation uses in the rural area. She proposed the bylaw in the first place, at the time pointing to the problems which have plagued the Town since a couple of cultural recreation centres were established in the rural area.

Planner Ian Keith noted the amendment for Nor Halton Park would apply only to that property and with Barber's objection out of the way the Town could now implement the new recreation zoning controls for the rural area.

Fire . . .

John Hoare's Texaco jeep was used to block they could see the smoke a mile-and-a-half away from Acton.

When they arrived on the scene they found the Acton firefighters "had things well in hand under the direction of district chief Alf Duby." They could offer little in the way of direction or advice to the volunteers who were doing a great job and made themselves helpful doing things like adjusting hoses.

"The men (the firefighters) did a fantastic job. They all gave 110 per cent. It was sad to see them there fighting a fire at the place of business of a fellow firefighter. Lloyd McIntyre has spent 20 plus years serving his community and helping others and to have the worst happen to him makes it doubly hard."

Cunningham explained it took the firefighters 30 to 45 minutes to "gain the upper hand", to "know we would win in the battle to protect the exposures (the homes on either side)."

The fire chief said he didn't want to "sell the others short" all 22 volunteers worked so hard on the blaze, but he wanted to single out volunteer Will Duval for special praise. "He (Duval) took a lot of abuse, a lot of heat and smoke, protecting the exposure on the south side." The chief explained with little chance to save Thompson Fuels, all they could do was keep it contained and let the fuels burn off the main job was to make sure the fire didn't spread to the houses by keeping them wet. He noted they were fortunate the two houses weren't wood frame or they could also have been lost even with the tremendous efforts of the firefighters. It was a credit to their work that the houses suffered no water damage.

Last fall a four inch hose was introduced in Acton and Cunningham said this improvement "proved its worth in this fire."

The Y's News
The Acton "Y" By Eileen Dix
Tel: 853-1070

Programming at the "Y" is going well. Few classes were cancelled, and most have good registration. The Yoga classes, new this session, have openings, and the C.P.R. (Heart Saver) course needs more participants. This course will be on two consecutive Saturday mornings, Feb. 12 and 19, from 9:30 a.m.-12:00 noon at a cost of $15.00. This being Heart Month, why not learn how to save a heart and a life! Congratulations! Our congratulations to David Ruse, Len Longtin and Laurie Longtin, who represented the Acton "Y" Judo club at the Burlington "Y" tournament, and placed first, first and second respectively, in their age groups.

Y's Menettes - Our ladies' service club holding a "Chinese Auction" for their time of fast, at their regular monthly meeting on Wed. Feb. 9. For information call Shirley Broostad at 853-2193.

Y's Men - On Tues. Feb. 8, the men will be touring a packaging plant. They will hold their regular business meeting on Tues. Feb. 22, at the "Y". For information call Jim Rivett at 853-3618.

Acton "Y" office hours are Wednesday & Friday 9 a.m.-3 p.m.
Remember - the "Y" is for "You"!
