

Sunday at Trinity United Church Hunger Awareness Dinners were served to congregation members. Meals ranged from rice or a bowl of mashed potatoes for those experiencing what it is like to live in Africa, Asia and Latin America to a ham dinner served by a waiter for North Americans.

Helen Dubeau, Marion Patterson, Hugh Patterson and Nancy Vidler participated in the program. It brought home the message about world hunger in terms of the setting of the meal served, dishes and cutlery and type of food.

Arthur drainage problems

The Town engineer has been directed to look at drainage problems on Arthur St. Two senior citizens who live on the street, Harriet Helwig and Kay Alger, attended Friday's Acton councillors' drop-in to complain about drainage problems around their homes, as well as other properties in the area. The problem is so bad the ladies have difficulty getting out of their homes when snow is melting or it rains. Councillor Ross Knechtel said the ultimate solution is curbs and gutters for the street, and while that work won't be done in the next couple of years there may be some temporary solution. The ladies noted the road has been built up over the years to the point where it is now higher than their properties. Their complaints were "legitimate" Knechtel observed, but Arthur and Peel streets are just two of over 100 roads in Acton and Georgetown which need curbs and gutters and not all the work can be done each year. Curbs and gutters should have been put in when storm sewers were installed. The ladies pointed out it has been years since there was road work in their area. Councillor Dave Whiting, who called engineer Robert Austin about the problem, said work was last done in 1975 and the drainage problem may be the result of work done then or a new problem. He said the engineer would come to see their problem this week.
