

Town awardslist set

Each year the Town of Halton Hills awards individuals and teams that have reached provincial acclaim in "sports events" or made special contribution to the town in arts or recreation fields.

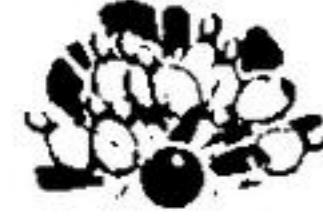

This year some 170 people will be honored at an April 7 gathering at the Halton Hills Library-Cultural Centre, as well as the Stewartstown School Choir which included another 100 local youngsters.

Among those 170 will be a few from Acton including local figure skater Susan Kinal, who reached the Canadian Figure Skating Championships in 1982.

Local runner Doreen Uranick had a very successful running year last year and will also be honored for her achievements.

The Acton Legion has been involved in the local hockey program for a number of years and will receive the Honor and Recognition Award for their efforts of the past.

Local artist Laura Dittich and Pianist Andreas Thiel will be honored for their cultural contributions while Halton Farmer of the Year, Mr. and Mrs. John McNabb will receive a special award.

Derbys in driver's seat

After two surprising upsets in the opening rounds of the Central Ontario Junior 'B' play-offs the Georgetown Gemini may have run out of tricks.

The Streetsville Derbys are ranked second in the province among Junior 'B' squads. They have proved why in the opening two games of the COJBHL final, scoring a 6-0 triumph in game one in Streetsville last Thursday. Then they destroyed the Gems before local fans 17-1 on Monday evening.

The Gems will need a third miracle this season if they hope to turn the league final into any kind of dogfight. Game three was played in Streetsville last night (Tuesday) with game four slated for Georgetown on Friday night beginning at 8:30 p.m.
