Call to check on a camp site

Ontario campers can check on the availability of Provincial Park campsites as a result of a co-operative program by the Ontario Ministry of Tourism and Recreation and the Ministry of Natural Resources.

The first report of the season was issued Thursday, May 19 covering the Victoria Day weekend. From then until June 23 the reports cover weekends only. The weekend reports are first made available each Thursday at 3 p.m., and are updated through the weekend.

Starting June 24, reports will be offered on a daily basis through to September 2.

The reports are revised twice daily to be current with the occupancy status of the 52 Provincial Parks covered.

When campers call after 3 p.m., on any given day they receive two types of information. First they get a report on the actual occupancy rate on any given park at 3 p.m. that day. Second, they are offered a projected occupancy rate for that evening.

Campers can then decide whether to travel to that park or to seek information on other nearby parks that are projecting a vacancy.

Callers in the Toronto area can dial 364-4722 for their 24-hour tape recorded report.

The other way to check vacancies is to call the nearest Ontario Travel Information Centre between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. daily. The centres are listed in the Provincial Government listings in the white pages telephone directory.

The service covers campsite availabilities only. Reservations for specific Provincial Park campsites can be made by calling the Park directly.
