

Councillors to conference

As many councillors as want may attend the Association of Municipalities of Ontario conference in Toronto at the Royal York in August. Halton Hills general committee decided last week.

The Town is allowed four voting delegates, in addition to Councillor Mike Armstrong who as a member of the board of directors of the organization automatically gets a vote.

Councillor Russ Miller said a number of councillors who also sit at the region attend the conference as region representatives so this leaves more spots for councillors who just sit at the Halton Hills level. Only a few councillors indicated that at this time they intend to go to the conference.

Armstrong and others said any member of council should be able to attend if they wish since this is a very valuable conference. Registration fees are $140, with travel, accommodation and other costs on top of that.

Volunteers wanted

by Maureen McCallum

Experience is what you need when you begin to apply for a full time job. Why not use this summer as a stepping stone to a career?

If your interest is in early childhood education you may want to assist with a summer pre-school program. Weather permitting, the program will take place outdoors and will include crafts, games, water play and circle time to mention a few activities. Bring your ideas and enthusiasm with you.

If public relations is your area of expertise, a local agency can use your assistance. Working along with the P.R. chairman, you would be responsible for the promotion of the activities of this very active group.

Where ever your career interest lies, volunteer work is a great way to get that first hand experience and those ever necessary references for the future. Think about it, and then call the Volunteer Centre for more information about these and many other opportunities. Call us at 877-3219.
