

On the Leavell

With Helen

Local readers of the Toronto Sun may have noticed a few familiar faces in the sports' section of yesterday's (Tuesday) paper.

John Jordan, Wayne Deforest and Brian Dunn could be seen in a photograph watching the Ontario Sire Stakes at Greenwood on Monday on Page 110.

Mike West, nephew of Acton area resident Wilma Chapman and son of former Actonian Judge Ernie West, added a gold medal to Canada's collection at the Canadian and World University Games in Edmonton last week. He set a record in the 100-metre backstroke and a picture appeared in Thursday's Toronto Star of Mike and a teammate in the water following the race.

While you're practicing up for the Free Press annual photo contest this fall, why don't you enter the Grand River Conservation Authority's Annual Photography Contest. It will focus on personal awareness of the water resources within the Grand River Watershed.

There's some pretty good prizes too. For further information call 821-2761 in Cambridge.

I found an interesting piece of trivia on my desk last week, set there by an unknown person. It is a photocopy of the results of an entrance examination at Georgetown in 1902. The Acton names listed (that I could make out on the copy) are, Philip Holmes, Harold Nicklin, Ena Pearson, Ruby Clark, Clarence Hagar, Jennie Smith, Edith Williams, Daniel Ritchie, Percy Wilson, Vida Folster, Katie Gray, Harry Frakun, Jennie MacPherson, Joseph Arthur, Frank Havill, David Taylor, Florence Holmes, Maggie McDonald, John Saunders, Annie Corry, Alice Richardson, Florence Chapman, Margaret Clark and Myrtle Cook.

It is interesting to note that some of the names are still part of everyday conversation in town.

Trees can come down

Some residents on Cobblehill Rd. will be allowed to go into Fairview Cemetery and cut down four willow trees.

Colin and Sylvia Ash, 48 Cobblehill Rd., Margaret Smith, 58 Cobblehill Rd., Eileen and Harold Saville, 50 Cobblehill Rd., and Robert Barrow, 54 Cobblehill Rd. sent a letter to the Town asking that something be done about the trees which are just inside the cemetery fence behind their homes.

They said they were concerned about drainage problems, roots of the trees stretching onto their properties and possibly damaging swimming pools, leaves falling all the time, and the willow trees interfering with growth of shrubs on their properties.

Engineer Robert Austin said these trees were planted many years ago and while trimming the branches would solve some problems because of extensive root growth they should be removed.

Town staff suggested the neighbors be responsible for cutting down the trees at their own expense and the Town will later remove the branches and wood.

The neighbors will have to receive clearance for times they can work on removing the willows from the public works department.

If there are any damages or injuries from the neighbors doing this work, clerk-administrator Ken Richardson said the Town will be responsible.
