50 years wed for Tolmans

Mabel and John Tolman have had their ups and downs over the past 50 years, just like everyone else. But last Tuesday, as they celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary, they proved the ups make up for the downs.

The couple was married on August 2, 1933 in St. Stephen's Church, Houslow, Middlesex, England, Mr. Tolman worked in a bakery in Kent and then the London Co-op Dairy in Middlesex. He served for five years with the Royal Air Force. On July 25, 1953, the family came to Canada in an attempt to break the rut in which they felf they had fallen. Within a few weeks Mr. Tolman was employed at Christie Biscuits where he remained until his retirement in 1974.

However, even though he stayed at the same job for many years, their home changed often. Mrs. Tolman admits she is a bit of a roamer and since their arrival to Canada they have lived in Toronto, Mississauga, Brampton, Arthur and finally Acton starting in 1980. They lived on Poplar Ave. for a short time before moving into Lakeview Villa. They became Canadian citizens about 12 years ago.

Mr. Tolman is fond of sports of all kinds, and Mrs. Tolman enjoys bingo. Looking back over the past 50 years, Mrs. Tolman reveals life has been good to them, and she hopes they see a few more years.

The couple has two children, a son Ronald in Mississauga and a daughter, Alexandria Rose Crawford in Brampton. They also have four granddaughters and one grandson.

A party was held in the couple's honor July 30 in Brampton at the home of their daughter, by their daughter, and daughter-In-law Eileen Tolman and residents of Lakeview Villa put on another gathering for them on Tuesday evening. They also received greetings from Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, Ontario Premier Bill Davis, Halton MP Otto Jelinek and other dignitaries.

Special guests at the party were Mrs. Tolman's sister, Mrs. Barbara Hills, a nephew and his wife, Melvin and Ann Hills and their two children, all of Calgary, Alberta.

Cars collide

A two car crash on Main St. N. and Ontario St., Georgetown, resulted in about $1,200 in damages to the vehicles, according to Halton Regional Police.

Police say cars driven by David Vassallo, 18, of Guelph and Maureen Lavigne, 21, of 14A John St. S., Acton were the drivers.
