

Outdoors

Yes, there is ice on the lakes but caution in its broadest sense is necessary to keep you out of the deep freeze. The ice must be hard and brittle due to the early freeze up. But the old timers claim it's not the best for travelling on especially with a machine.

Locals will probably advise inland bays for winter fishing sooner than risk the big wide open area for a few weeks yet. Your phone will connect you with your favorite lodge so heed what the owner has to say.

Several years ago we were out from Jackson's Point on New Year's Day and our companions were the Port brothers and the Crittenden brothers; the ice parted behind us and we were looking at 100 yards of open water.

Boats had to be used to rescue those on the outgoing flow, we were lucky. Now, thick ice later on will keep you and your car much safer than the highway will on the way home.

Remember, be sure and safe.

Fly tying

Newcomers to the Fur Feathers and Steel Club will do well to try their hand at tying the Royal Coachman Maribou streamer in various sizes.

The Alexander Streamer is another pattern to work on so open up that how-to-it fly tying book and tie one that will fill your creel on opening day.

Both these streamers should be tied on size 6-4 x L-shank hooks limerick style. The maribou though is a good producer on size 6 standard hook shank. It's very effective when worked from the bottom up.

Now have a Happy New Year, Enjoy the Outdoors
