JANUARY at your Library . . . programmes especially for ADULTS

"FOCUS ON CHILDREN" Series

A series of three seminars to help parents and adults working with children better understand the process of growing and learning. . . The lecture/workshops will be held on Wednesday evenings at the Georgetown Public Library at 7:30 p.m. . . Fee for the three seminars $5.00 . . . individual lectures $2.00.

"We live in a dangerous world! Childhood is no longer idyllic. Adolescence is a far cry from prom night and front-porch necking. Help your children learn how to help themselves."
"Have you discussed with your children what should be done if they find themselves at a questionable party? Have you ever talked about abnormal behaviour with them? Have you discussed when your child should get out of a friend's car? Does your child know when to reject adult authority? Is your child a leader? a follower? a wanderer? Do you know how much money your child spends? Have you met the parents of your child's friends? . . ." These are just a few of the questions you should begin to ask to take positive action today—so you won't be sorry to morrow.

STREETPROOFING with author RICK GOSSAGE. The lecture will be co sponsored by Block Parents Association, Halton Regional Safety Council and Halton Hills Public Libraries 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, January 18. Fee for the three seminars $5.00. Individual lectures $2.00
