David Smiley pegged the lone Oakville goal unassisted.

No Midget results were available at press time.

McKenzie-Smith sports

With March Break just around the corner there wasn't much action on the McKenzie-Smith sports beat.

However, the teachers took on the students in an exhibition match that saw the teachers thrash the students. The McKenzie-Smith swimmers were also in action and they managed another win against E.C. Drury to clinch top spot in the league standings.

Referee is disappointed by turnout

Dear Sir:

In the past years the Acton Referees Association has worked together with both the Acton Minor Hockey Association and Legion Hockey, to give the interested young men in town the chance to learn good sportsmanship, to develop hockey skills, and to give them the opportunity to play the sport. An age-old problem for a referee, has always been that as soon as he steps on the ice with that black and white sweater on, he's a bum. For the home team he can do nothing right. But over the past four years the Acton Referees Association has held a benefit game to help raise money for Acton Minor Hockey. This money is donated to help subsidize their financial operation. After all, for many families and both hockey associations, our existing economic situation certainly has us observing financial restraint.

This year the referees played the Channel 3 CKVR Barrie No Stars in aid of this worthwhile cause. In previous years the turnout for these games has been overwhelming. This year's attendance was just short of scarce. It was disheartening.

One thing I do know, is there has always been a friction between both hockey associations. But quite a number of Legion Hockey members were in attendance supporting this worthwhile cause. Where were you Acton Minor Hockey? How many tickets did you sell?

This letter in no way is meant to undermine or destroy all the good that each hockey group has done. It is designed, however, to let Acton Minor Hockey know that from one referee's standpoint, it was discouraging to have gone through all the planning and work for such a poor showing. You demonstrated a lack of support, and became the real losers, financially in this worthwhile cause.

Thanks should go out to all those who did support the Acton Referees Association on behalf of Acton Minor Hockey. A special thanks to the pillars from Minor Hockey and the Hockey Moms.

One Acton Referee.

Novices edge Woodstock

The Alton McIsaac Novices finished their regular season play on a winning note last Saturday with a 3-2 win over the visiting Woodstock club.

James Lloyd opened the Acton scoring drive early in the match with an unassisted goal and then Woodstock returned fire midway through the opening period to tie up the match.

Brad Hayter put Acton back on top again with another unassisted effort and then Woodstock gathered steam halfway through the middle frame to retie the game.

With only seconds left in the second period Steven Turkosz banged in the winning goal from the slot on a perfect set up by Lloyd. Shane Corkum also assisted on the final goal.

With Acton ahead 3-2 the third period saw end to end action with neither team able to put the puck past the goaltenders. Thanks to tight checking and sound goaltending by Ricky Demone the local Novices came away with the win.

In other recent action Acton tied Caledon 1-1 March 3 with a goal by Turkosz and assists by Brad Cripps and Hayter.

On February 24 Acton shut out Hespeler on two goals by Hayter and a single by Scott Foster. Jason Bousfield was credited with the shut-out.

The McIsaac Novices will be competing in the Plattsville tourney this weekend and will be preparing for the Hub League Championships March 21.

Bob Smith pulled the lucky Acton Minor Hockey Lottery ticket on Saturday at the Community Centre. Mike Yurek of Acton was the lucky winner of the $1,000 prize. Glen Lea Drug Mart sold the winner, ticket number 1124.

Preston pounds Glenlea Drugs

After three games in the Hub League play-off series between Glenlea Drugs Minor Atoms and Preston the local squad has recorded one tie and two losses.

In round two of the series Preston managed to edge Acton 2-1 with Matthew Robinson scoring the only Acton goal unassisted.

Brett Wilson and Robinson assisted Derrick Robson on both Acton goals in game three as Preston overpowered the Acton Atoms 6-2.
