New Knox minister once broke nose here

Even though Acton's newest minister has only been in town a few weeks, he already has memories of the community—from about 24 years ago.

Rev. Craig Cribar, of Knox Presbyterian Church, says the only thing he remembers about Acton is breaking his nose in a train crash here in the late 50s or early 60s.

When first approached by members of Knox congregation to consider coming to Acton, the first thing Rev. Cribar thought of was when he was attending Waterloo College (now Wilfrid Laurier University) and would take the train between school and home in Newmarket. One fateful day two trains collided head-on, in Acton. Rev. Cribar suffered a broken nose and bruises. Born in Newmarket, Rev. Cribar received most of his elementary and secondary education in Weston. After attending Knox College in Toronto, he moved to Chauvin, Alberta, where he spent three years. Returning to Ontario, he spent three years at St. Mark's in Orillia. From there Rev. Cribar went on to St. Andrew's in Newmarket, where he has lived for the past 15 years.

Rev. Cribar says he was very happy with his posting in Newmarket, but the Acton contingent talked him into moving on.

He brings with him a BA degree from Waterloo College and his masters degree in psychology from Boston University.

Rev. Cribar's daughter, Kimberley is at York University and son Kyle is finishing off his school year in Newmarket. He will be in grade 13 at Acton High School in September. His wife, Marlene, is a secretary at the Holland Landing Public School and will be commuting until June.

Rev. Cribar himself will be making weekly trips to his old stomping grounds. He is a trustee on the York Region Board of Education and his resignation is not effective until the end of June. In the meantime, he will be attending board meetings Monday evenings.

Rev. Cribar is excited about being in Acton and the possibilities of the church. He's anxious to get to know the people in the community, and anxious to get to work.

Induction services were held Thursday evening for Rev. Cribar and he held his first local service Sunday morning.

BIA plans to spend $31,000

The Acton BIA plans to spend $31,000 this year.

The BIA budget was sent to council Monday to be used in calculating the BIA tax.

The BIA had $8,000 left over from last year and plans to spend an additional $25,000 in 1984.

Of the total spending figure, $16,500 will be partial repayment of the BIA's downtown improvement loan of $150,000 to the province.

The operating budget for 1984 is pegged at $14,500.

Features of the operating budget include $6,000 for promotion; $3,000 for beautification; $2,000 for parking lot maintenance; $2,000 for an office operation; $500 for miscellaneous expenditures; and a $1,000 contingency fund.

For Service to the Community

They are the bedrock of society, quietly, selflessly devoted to those who need help. They are the people who, with no thought of compensation, voluntarily devote part of their lives to the bettering of the lives of others - the disabled, the disadvantaged, the sick and the lonely. Some contribute their time and talents to helping others achieve - in culture, arts, sports and recreation.

Bicentennial Medals

To commemorate Ontario's Bicentennial, a special medal has been struck. Made from Ontario gold and nickel and minted in Ottawa, the medal features Ontario's coat of arms and the Bicentennial symbol.

Nominate a Special Person

In this Bicentennial year, 1,984 medals will be awarded to volunteers who have made a valuable contribution to their communities. Every community across the province including municipalities, Indian Bands and local service boards will be asked to nominate anywhere from one to 13 non-elected individuals (dependent on population). Beyond this, some 200 medals will be awarded to citizens whose names have been put forward by their fellow citizens or by volunteer organizations.

Ontario's Bicentennial

It's an occasion for communities to join together and celebrate our rich diversity. The Bicentennial Medals Program is one way we can honour those special values we all hold in common, and those special individuals who've made our life together better.

We need your nomination by June 30, 1984. Nomination forms are available by writing:
