Name the monkey — library mascot

There's a new monkey in town who needs help from young children to find a name for itself! The monkey is the mascot of the North Halton Toy Library, and all children up to age 7 are invited to submit their idea for a name by Thursday, May 31. The winner will receive a $10 gift certificate from Toy Magic, where he or she can choose from toys, records, art supplies, and puzzles.

hugging. Its legs are stiff and immovable because of cerebral palsy, and so the monkey sits in a little wooden wheel chair.

Toy Library chairman Audrey Hillman says she can't tell if it is a boy or a girl, but that the monkey will be a loving friend for everyone who wants to play with it. The monkey was purchased with money donated by the Knox Church Men's Club, and reflects the Toy Library's special concern with handicapped and "handi-capable" children. Although the Library's membership is open to all children, those with special needs have priority, and most of the over 300 toys are specially chosen to help develop children's physical, mental, and social skills.

The monkey will be on display until Saturday, May 12, at Georgetown Fabrics (beside Zellers), then at Penniesworth until May 26, and then will move to a permanent home at the North Halton Toy Library in George Kennedy School.
Ballots can be deposited at the above locations or mailed to 20 Elgin Street, Georgetown.

It Sews a Fine Seam
Sewing is not my greatest love. I still have the Singer Featherweight, Portable Sewing Machine I bought when I got married. It is indispensable for mending. Whenever I want to buy a bobbin or something for it, I am always persuaded to get rid of it and buy a new one. On a T.V. station one day I was happy to hear that the featherweights are coming back in style. It seems that if you can learn to use all the gadgets that come with them, they are every bit as useful as the more modern machines.
