Clarkes tour England, Ireland

by Doris Fines
Mr. and Mrs. Barry Clarke have returned from a month long holiday in Ireland and England.

They visited in Northern Ireland in County Londonderry with Mrs. Clarke's relatives on her father's side and in County Antrim with relatives on her mother's side. They also visited with an aunt, Annie Wylie who is 87 years of age. They rented a car and toured across the border, from Donegal to the south of the island, taking time out on the way to kiss the Blarney Stone.

In England they visited Mrs. Stella Boyd in Doncaster, Yorkshire. A very interesting part of their tour, they found was the city of York, where some old buildings had been torn down to erect new office buildings, and in the excavating, a 1000 year old Viking village was uncovered. The walls were still there in good shape, and there are odd pieces of pottery.

Barry went on a nostalgic trip to Brighton. He was stationed at Uckfield during the war. There used to be an Agricultural College there. It is now a Catholic Church and schools. The caretaker took them in to see the buildings. Another interesting place was Auredale Castle which was occupied by the Dukes of Norfolk until 29 years ago.

They saw Yorkminster Cathedral, the foundations of which are beginning to crumble, so excavations are now going on to strengthen the foundation. Parts of Roman walls have been found underground there also, which makes one wonder what mysteries the earth does hold.

Sweet idea

When substituting honey for sugar in jelly making, a commercial pectin should be used to achieve good results, says Monica Beaumont, a food and nutrition specialist with the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food's rural organizations and services branch.

Jack Ferguson is home and doing well following surgery in St. Joseph's Hospital, Guelph.

Shirley Fletcher attended the May meeting of the Eramosa 4-H Garden and Home Improvement Club. It was held at the home of the leader Mrs. Betty Allan. They learned about understanding soil tests and what soil is, and they studied soil particles to figure what out elements are in the soil. The name they gave themselves is "Eramosa Veggie Baskets".

Police beat

Driver injured

A 30-year-old Rockwood woman received minimal injuries Sunday morning when the Chevy van she was driving was involved in a collision with a car at Guelph St. and Maple Ave. in Georgetown. Connie Winkel was driving north on Maple when her van struck a 1973 Chevrolet driven by Ruth McMenemy of Glen Williams. Neither McMenemy nor two passengers in each of the vehicles were injured. Damage was set at $1,500 for each vehicle.

Baby escapes injury

A collision at Main St. and School Lane Saturday afternoon saw a 30-year-old Rockwood woman receive minor injuries. Theresa Niemann was a passenger in a car driven by Michael Niemann, also 30, of MacKenzie St. in Rockwood, along with one-year-old Sara Niemann, when it was struck by a second vehicle driven by Brian Canary, 19, of Ransom St. Damage was estimated at $1,000 to the Canary car and $3,000 to Niemann's.

Charged again

H and H Video's twin outlets in Acton and Georgetown were visited by Halton Regional Police for the third consecutive weekend Sunday. The owners are again charged with keeping the stores open on a Sunday, contrary to Ontario's Retail Business Holidays Act.

Snowmobile recovered

Police have charged an 18-year-old Doby Rd. man with possession of stolen property after recovering a $1,900 snowmobile last week. The vehicle was taken from an RR 1 Acton residence early this year.

Drug charge

A 19-year-old Georgetown man is charged with possession of a narcotic following his arrest on Acton Blvd. Friday night. Police found a small quantity of marijuana in a car in which the accused was a passenger. A further search turned up more marijuana on his person.

Gas station break-in Persons unknown broke into Silvercreek Shell on Highway 7 overnight Sunday, stealing $50 in cash and causing $350 damage to a bay window, a tow truck window and the truck's interior, which was doused with the contents of a fire extinguisher.
