Health boards back legal heroin

The Association of Ontario Boards of Health has overwhelmingly endorsed Halton Region's call for the legalization of heroin for use by the terminally ill.

Forwarded to the Association by Regional Council just last week, the resolution initiated by the Halton Health Department earned almost unanimous support at the Association's annual convention June 6.

Boosting support for the move was guest speaker Irene Pirocchi of Hamilton, a terminally ill cancer patient who attested to the severe pain she faces despite prescribed medication.

Former Halton Medical Officer of Health Peter Cole, now serving in that position with

Peel Region, told delegates from 35 Ontario health units at the convention that heroin is an "excellent drug" beneficial to "a number of patients who would not be helped otherwise."

Halton council endorsed Dr. Cole's plea for heroin's legalization last December, noting that other countries continue to use the drug to treat terminally ill patients and find it helpful in reducing disease-related pain.

Halton's resolution also asserted that "heroin is unlikely to be any more of a problem than other drugs that are presently available for pain control as far as addiction is concerned."

Canada banned the drug outright in 1956.

Ballinafad

Institute visits Cullen Barns

Mrs. Alma Sinclair was hostess for the June meeting of the WI. Three car loads of ladies left at 10 a.m., as an outing had been planned to visit the Cullen Barns near Markham.

It was almost noon on arrival there, so eating places on the premises were found and lunch enjoyed. Then a tour of the large territory was explored. Greenhouses and plants on the main floor with several floors of every kind of craft imaginable on display and for sale. Back at Alma's, members stayed for a short business meeting and final plans were made for the WI Bicentennial tea which will be on Wednesday, June 20. Antiques and crafts will be on display as well as the Tweedsmuir History Book. July and August will be holiday months for the Ballinafad WI.

Rev. Dr. Tom Bandy was welcomed back to his usual place in the pulpit on Sunday and was able to conduct the special service of Confirmation and Holy Communion. Two of our young people Jeffery Kerr and David Paul were received and David's parents Mr. and Mrs. Paul were welcomed as they affirmed their faith.

At the conclusion of these sacred services. The choir of the mixed voices blended with an appropriate musical selection. Sunday, June 24 there will be an open air service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schwarz with a picnic lunch and sports to follow.

Our village is growing rapidly these days with all the new Burnett Homes being built on the town line.

EASTER SEALS. STILL HARD AT WORK IN JUNE.

Diagnostic clinic held at Civic Hospital, North Bay, Ontario.

When disabled children can't come to us, we go to them. By conducting diagnostic clinics in northern areas of the province we give every child access to specialists in paediatrics, orthopaedics, neurology, plastic surgery, cardiology and physical medicine. Your Easter Seal dollars work hard... twelve months a year.

Back a fighter. Year, round.
