

Rainbow of Memories grad theme

A "Rainbow of Memories" was the theme of McKenzie-Smith Middle School's graduation ceremonies last Thursday at the Acton Legion.

Musical entertainment was supplied by Pam Stewart, singing I'll Get By With A Little Help From My Friends. Valedictorian Peter Bray reflected on the time he spent at McKenzie-Smith and the memories he shared with his friends.

Frank Amstaetter and Kandi Hannah were awarded McKenzie-Smith bursaries as best all-round male and female students. Scott Williams and Margie Parker won the school's Sportsmanship Awards.

Lori Jarrett showed an 8.4 per cent improvement in her grades and Doug Neely improved 9.7 per cent on his grades to earn them Lakeside I.O.D.E. Awards for the most improved boy and girls.

Margaret Sale's average of 90 per cent earned her the Legion Ladies' Auxiliary Award for the student with the highest mark.

Charlotte Hillier won the Norma Silcock Citizenship Award and Angela Bridge, who only missed two days in her three years at McKenzie-Smith, won the Gary Dawkins Attendance Award.

Margaret Sale won five proficiency awards in Communication Arts, Math, Social Science, Family Studies, and Physical Education.

Kelly Bishop and Angela Bridge tied for the highest Science mark. Valerie Kekic was outstanding in French, Pauline Stuckey was most proficient in Art, Lisa McIsaac was exceptional in Music, Greg Leatherland was the best male Physical Education student, Peter Bray had the highest mark in Industrial Arts, and Kandi Hannah and Lori McDonald were rewarded for their work in Family Studies.

David Hinz and Ron Atkinson turned the tables when they presented the school with an award; a hand-made school crest to show their appreciation for the school.

Small school letters were awarded to the students who accumulated points in endeavors in academics, culture, and athletics.
