

See Pope at Downsview

At least 135 Halton Hills Catholics will travel to Downsview by bus Saturday, Sept. 15, to attend the outdoor mass celebrated by Pope John Paul II.

Father David Cote of Holy Cross Church, Georgetown, said two buses will carry approximately 100 of his parishioners while Father Ralph Diodati of St. Joseph's Church, Acton, said 35 parishioners so far have arranged to attend the mass. A spokesman for Sacre Coeur Church said he did not know yet how many parishioners will make the trip.

Holy Cross Church has also arranged a joint forum with St. George's Anglican Church on Sept. 12 at 8 p.m. called the Papacy and the Ecumenical Perspective. There will be prayer, information sharing, and refreshments, Father Cote said, adding everyone is welcome.

Father Cote, Father Diodati, and Father Con O'Mahoney of Holy Cross Church will be among the 1,000 priests attending a special mass by the Pope at St. Michael's Cathedral in Toronto on Friday, Sept. 11.

Pope John Paul is making his first visit to Canada as the reigning pontiff, although he visited Canada as a Polish prelate previously.

Emmett Cardinal Carter of Toronto has urged all Catholics to come and see the pope in person at Downsview and to ignore figures which estimate there'll be a million or more people there, calling them exaggerated.

The Pope will also visit and say mass at the Canadian Martyrs' Shrine in Midland. Some area Catholics say they prefer to see the pope and assist at mass in that setting.
