

Draw supports disabled

A beautiful, hand carved, solid wood rocking horse will be the grand prize awarded in a raffle being held to raise funds for the Credit Valley Treatment Centre for Children, located on South Millway, in Mississauga.

The rocking horse, which is the creation of craftsman Gerard Boileau, is a duplicate of the horse he carved as a gift from Canada to Prince William, son of Prince Charles and Princess Diana. Mr. Boileau spends up to 80 hours painstakingly creating his masterpieces. They are sturdy enough to provide years of enjoyment for any child.

This particular rocking horse is carved from solid butternut, and utilizes real horsehair for the mane and tail. It comes with an official certificate of authentication, personally signed and sealed by Mr. Boileau, who has generously donated the steed to the Centre.

The Centre, operated by the Credit Valley Association for Handicapped Children, provides a wide range of services to approximately 450 physically disabled and multi-handicapped children.

The only one of its kind in the Peel and Halton Regions, the Centre has been in operation since 1978.

Anyone interested in buying or selling tickets, either individually or by the book, is invited to call the Centre, at 820-7111. Tickets will be available from Members of the Georgetown Kinsmen Club, and can be obtained by calling Al Ryall, at 877-1645.

The cost per ticket is only $1.00, with all proceeds going towards the Centre. The draw will be held on October 12 at 2:00 p.m. at the Credit Valley Treatment Centre for Children, 2277 South Millway, in Mississauga.

New proposal to help EFW

By CARMELA FRAGOMENI
A private company's proposal could be a godsend to regional officials struggling with the poor public perception and the financing of an energy-from-waste plant to burn Halton's garbage.

The company, Petro-Sun International Inc. of Brampton, has submitted a proposal to build, own, and operate its own energy-from-waste plant to service Oakville's Union Carbide plant on Speers Road.

The $22 million plant, which Petro-Sun calls a resource recovery plant, would not cost the region a penny, except for an $18 per ton tipping fee to drop Halton's garbage off at the plant.

The project would be privately financed by the SNC Group, a large firm whose engineering division worked on the region's feasibility study for an energy-from-waste plant.

Although a 73-page report submitted to the region by Petro-Sun is impressive and addresses a number of concerns including air emissions from a 150-foot stack, Oakville councillor Ann Mulvale, the region's solid waste management committee chairman, said she is trying not to get too excited about the proposal.

"It certainly warrants investigation," she said cautiously. "I had hoped the private sector would become interested in this sort of thing."
