

Young and old pause to remember

Deep in thought, this young man reflects on the bravery and misfortune of our war dead as the names of those in the Acton area killed in the line of duty were read aloud by John McHugh.

It rained on their parade, but many people gathered at Trinity Church for the service. Alex Richards was parade marshal.

The weather was wet and cold, but that did not seem to discourage some of the large crowd that turned out to witness the Remembrance Day memorial Sunday.

Members of the Lorne Scots salute before placing a wreath by the cenotaph in front of Trinity United Church in Acton Sunday. A service of remembrance was held inside Trinity after the outside memorial service.

"C" Company Lorne Scots formed the honor guard at Sunday's memorial service. Mayor Russ Miller and MPP Julian Reed were among those present at the memorial.

The Remembrance Day parade went down Mill Street to the cenotaph in front of Trinity United Church. The Acton Citizens Band led the way. The last post was performed by George Elliott.
