4-H Achievement Day Ends in Meat the Menu Course

Homemaking Clubs in the north part of Halton County met at Ballinafad, Saturday Dec. 13 for their Achievement day. Attending were 66 girls, members of six clubs, Ashgrove, Ballinafad 1 and 11, Bannockburn, Dublin, and Limehouse-Silverwood, and the leaders. Mrs. Doreen Bannister, Home Economist for Halton and Peel Counties, supervised the day's activities.

The project "Meat in the Menu" was designed to teach girls to choose, use, and cook meat for family meals. To test their knowledge, members spent part of the morning planning menus, locating parts of a beef carcass on a diagram, and identifying cuts of meat.

Provincial honours were awarded to Janet Nurse and Lois McNabb of the Ashgrove Club, on completion of six years of club work.

Mrs. John Bird, president of Halton District Women's Institutes, brought greetings to the 4H clubs, and then presented County honours certificates and pins to two girls, Lydia Rentenaar of Ashgrove, and Connie Bombholt of Limehouse-Silverwood Club. They have completed six projects.

Visiting Home Economist, Miss Karen Butler of Elmvale, commented on the club's exhibits and skits.

Mrs. Bannister presented all members and leaders with a sterling silver 4H Homemaking club teaspoon. The program closed with the repeating of the 4-H pledge.

A contribution to The Ability Fund (March of Dimes) is a helping hand to disabled adults.
